NOTIFICATION BY THE ACCOUNTANT-GENERAL, BENGAL.

STOCK CERTIFICATES.

As it does not appear to be generally known that Government Promissory Notes can be readily converted into Stock Certificates and re-converted into Promissory Notes at the option of the holders, and that Stock Certificate-holders enjoy certain special advantages, the attention of holders of Government Securities is drawn to the following particulars :—

1. Government Promissory Notes can be converted into Stock Certificates and re-converted into Promissory Notes at any time at the option of the holder.

2. The holders of Stock Certificates are not required to present them in person or by agent when the interest becomes due. On application made, interest will be paid to Stock Certificate-holders by warrants on any Government Treasury, which warrants will be sent by post, on the day the interest falls due, to the Stock Certificate-holders direct or through the Treasury Officer, as they may desire.

3. Stock Certificates are not negotiable by endorsement, and are consequently of no value in the hands of a wrongful holder, and the risks arising from the possession of, or repeated transmission of, negotiable Securities, are thereby avoided.

4. In the event of the loss of a Stock Certificate by theft, fire, &c., a fresh Certificate will issue on satisfactory evidence of loss.

NOTE.—Further particulars can be obtained on reference to the Public Debt Offices, Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay.

PART VI.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 7th July, 1886, and was referred to a Select Committee on the 14th idem :—

No. 13 of 1886.

A Bill to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1882.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1882, in manner hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows :— VI of 1882.

1. After section 200 of the Indian Companies Act, 1882, the following section shall be inserted, namely :— VI of 1882. Insertion of new section after section 200.

"200A. (1) In the distribution of the assets of any company being wound up under this Act, there shall be paid in priority to all other debts— [46 & 47 Vic., c. 28, s. 4.] Wages and salaries to be preferential claims and to rank equally.

"(a) all wages or salary of any clerk or servant in respect of services rendered to the company within the four months next before the commencement of the winding up, not exceeding five hundred rupees for each clerk or servant; and [Indian Bankruptcy Bill, s. 38, cls. (b) and (c): 55 Law J. Rep. Q. B. 288.]

"(b) all wages of any labourer or workman, not exceeding five hundred rupees for each, whether payable for time or piece-work, in respect of services rendered to the company within the four months next before the commencement of the winding up.

"(2) The foregoing debts shall rank equally among themselves, and shall be paid in full, unless the assets of the company are insufficient to meet them, in which case they shall abate in equal proportions among themselves.

"(3) Subject to the retention of such sums as may be necessary for the cost of administration or otherwise, the liquidator or liquidators or official liquidator shall discharge the foregoing debts forthwith, so far as the assets of the company are and will be sufficient to meet them, as and when the assets come into the hands of the liquidator or liquidators or official liquidator." [46 & 47 Vic., c. 28, s. 6.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE attention of the Government of India has been drawn, by a recent decision of Mr. Justice Scott of the Bombay High Court (I. L. R. 10 Bom. 211), to the absence of any provision in the Indian Companies Act, 1882 (Act VI of 1882), similar to that contained in section 4 of the Statute 46 & 47 Vic., cap. 28, under which, in the distribution of the assets of any company being wound up, the wages of clerks and workmen are, subject to certain restrictions, given priority over other debts. With the view of remedying this defect in the Indian law, the present Bill has been prepared. While following generally the lines of the English Statute, the Bill adopts the modifications of the law regarding the priority of the wages of workmen, in the case of the bankruptcy of private employers, made by section 40 of the English Bankruptcy Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vic., cap. 52). As these provisions of the English Bankruptcy Act have been followed in the Indian Bankruptcy Bill now before the Legislative Council of the Governor General, it seems desirable that the amendment which this Bill makes in the Indian Companies Act should be drawn so far as possible in identical terms.

Explanation.—Summary. The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the same period for the past ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of rainy days are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub divisional stations for the period in question during the past ten years. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

* Means for six days.

for the week ending Friday, the 23rd July 1886.

CALCUTTA, the 28th July 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 23RD OF JULY 1886.

In the report of the previous week the history of the small cyclonic storm at the head of the Bay, which had existed for so many days, had been traced till on Friday morning, the 16th instant, it was situated in the north-west corner of the Bay, the centre being, so far as could be judged, to the east of False Point and almost south of Saugor Island. On Saturday, the 17th, the small storm had distinctly intensified, but it remained remarkably persistent. So far as the land observations shewed, the centre appeared to have moved slightly in a northerly direction, and it was a little to the north of False Point. The small storm then passed inland bringing heavy rain in its advance, and on Sunday morning, the 18th, the centre was apparently not far from Cuttack, and on the following day it had advanced further inland in a north-westerly direction and was apparently approaching Sutna and Allahabad, but on Monday, the 20th, the small storm had apparently filled up and disappeared.

The small storm in its advance over the land gave rise to very heavy rain to the districts of Orissa, the south-western districts of South-West Bengal, and the southern parts of Chutia Nagpur, and the disappearance of the storm from the head of the Bay was followed by a rather stronger advance of monsoon winds. On Thursday, the 22nd, however, a rather rapid fall of pressure took place in the north-west corner of the Bay and in Orissa, which again resulted in the formation of a feeble, but distinct barometric depression over this area, but on the last day of the week this depression had again disappeared, and the distribution of pressure had become normal. With the formation of the depression, rain was again general over the area affected, and with its disappearance again a fairly strong monsoon current set in over the province.

It will be seen from the above conditions that pressure has been decidedly low in the south-western districts of the province, and in Orissa the mean pressure for the week has been no less than 0·118″ in defect; at Calcutta and Saugor Island pressure has also been a tenth of an inch in defect, but the variation from the normal becomes gradually smaller in other districts until in North Behar the defect is only 0·05″. For the whole province the mean pressure for the week has been 0·077″ in defect of the normal.

Temperature—Has been nearly normal in the southern districts where rainfall has been abundant, but elsewhere temperature has been generally very decidedly in excess. In Orissa, South-West and East Bengal the variations from normal temperature do not exceed half a degree, but in the other districts of Behar and Chutia Nagpur the temperature has been from one to two-and-a-half degrees in excess of the normal. For the whole province the mean temperature for the week has been 0·9° in excess of the normal Rainfall—Has been frequent and copious over a considerable part of Orissa, South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur. Rainfall has also been fairly frequently but comparatively light over East and North Bengal, while over the greater part of Behar rainfall has been decidedly less frequent, and the showers have been light. Rainfall has therefore been in excess in Orissa and South-West Bengal, while it has been in defect in all other districts. The largest fall has occurred in Orissa, the stations of which average 4·73 inches of rain falling on 5·8 days. South-West Bengal has received 2·50 inches falling on 5·7 days. Of the divisions in defect Chutia Nagpur has received 2·67 inches of rain falling on 4·8 days; East Bengal has averaged 2·50 inches at all stations falling on 5·2 days; the South Behar stations have received 1·76 inches on four days, North Bengal has received an average fall of 1·51 inches on 3·8 days, and North Behar 1·38 inches falling on 2·5 days. These falls compared with the normal for the same period, and expressed as a percentage of the normal fall, show that Orissa has received a fall equal to 199 per cent.; South-West Bengal a fall equal to 104 per cent.; Chutia Nagpur has received 68 per cent. and East Bengal 70 per cent. The fall in South Behar has equalled 75 per cent. of the normal; in North Behar it has been 55 per cent.; and in North Bengal only 51 per cent. of the normal. Some particularly heavy falls at certain stations have been reported, and thus the rainfall for the week has equalled 10·33 inches at False Point, 9·68 inches at Cox's Bazar, 9·07 inches at Siliguri, 8·09 inches at Buxa, 7·77 inches at Chyebassa, and 6·49 inches at Contia. The heaviest falls on any particular day have been on the 17th 5·18 inches at False Point and 5·00 inches at Cuttack, and on the 18th 4·10 inches at Chyebassa.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 23rd of July 1886 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

THE annexed table presents the mortuary statistics of the districts in Bengal (containing a population of 66,163,884) for the month of May 1886. The results to be gathered from it, contrasted with those for the preceding month and for the corresponding month of the past year, are the following :—

1. Deaths registered—

Deaths.

	During the months of—
	May 1886.	April 1886.	May 1885.
Number	100,827	115,476	114,119
Ratio per mille	18 24	20·88	20 64

The above figures indicate a large decrease in the number of deaths recorded as contrasted with both the periods with which comparison is instituted.

2. The highest casualty-rates were returned from the following districts :—

Districts.	Ratio per mille.	Districts.	Ratio per mille.
Pubna	39·36	Dinajpur	27·84
Julpaiguri	32·16	Rajshahye	26·64

Fever	12·96	12·96
Bowel-complaints	·72	·84
Injury	·26	·36
Other causes	2·16	2·40

indicating chiefly that, in comparison with the results of the corresponding month of the preceding year, the severity of cholera had on the whole declined considerably, and that there was no accession of mortality from fever.

4. Cholera and fever exhibited greatest activity in the undermentioned districts, while the rest of the diseases did not display conspicuous fatality anywhere, excepting small pox, which proved conspicuously fatal in Chumparun, where 2·40 per 1,000 of population died, and the maladies classed under the head of "Other causes" carried off 10·32 per 1,000 of population in Puri :—

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

CALCUTTA SMALL CAUSE COURT.

NOTICE.

IN accordance with suggestions contained in a report to the High Court, signed by Mr. Justice Wilson and Mr. Justice Trevelyan, on their inspection of the Calcutta Small Cause Court, a new system will, on and after the 28th October 1886, be tried for the purpose of revising the list of cases which come daily into the court.

All summons cases will, on the returnable date of the summons, come before one only of the Judges, who will revise the whole list of the court for each day.

He will go through the list, enter "compromises," make decrees in cases in which the defendant does not appear, give fresh summonses in cases where the summons has not been served, grant necessary postponements, ascertain what causes are defended, and dispose of any cases which, in his judgment can be disposed of summarily.

This would leave the whole time of the other Judges free for the trial of defended causes. The defended causes will be assigned by the Judge revising the list to the lists of the different Judges on the earliest possible days, and will be adjourned by him to those days. The Judge revising the list will have before him the list of each Judge for each day, so far as already filled up, and will arrange that there should always be a sufficient number of cases, say 25 or 30, on each Judge's list. Each of the other Judges will thus have each day his list of defended cases provided for him. When a second summons has been granted, the case will, on the new return day, come again before the Judge who revises the list for that day.

If under this system a Judge should at any time find his list becoming clogged, he will communicate with the revising Judge, and inform the latter that he must have a day or days left clear to enable him to pull up. Thus if on the first of the month a Judge finds that his lists were getting blocked, and that it will take a day to get them clear, he will tell the revising Judge that this is the case. The latter, when revising the lists of the Judge in question, may see that they are already filled, say up to the 9th: he will leave the 10th blank. The Judge who had found himself blocked, knowing that the 10th would be a clear day, will use his discretion: he will either go on as usual up to the 10th, trusting to clear himself on that day, or will adjourn a sufficient number of cases to that day to enable him to take the other cases as nearly as possible on their proper dates.

ADJOURNMENTS.

No "costs of the day" will be allowed on adjournments.

Nor will adjournments be allowed, even by consent, except upon good cause shown.

By order of the Court,

COURT OF SMALL CAUSES OF CALCUTTA, The 28th July 1886.

C. Y. C. BOLST, Clerk of the Court.

STOCK CERTIFICATES.

As it does not appear to be generally known that Government Promissory Notes can be readily converted into Stock Certificates and re-converted into Promissory Notes at the option of the holders, and that Stock Certificate-holders enjoy certain special advantages, the attention of holders of Government Securities is drawn to the following particulars :—

1. Government Promissory Notes can be converted into Stock Certificates and re-converted into Promissory Notes at any time at the option of the holder.

2. The holders of Stock Certificates are not required to present them in person or by agent when the interest becomes due. On application made, interest will be paid to Stock Certificate-holders by warrants on any Government Treasury, which warrants will be sent by post, on the day the interest falls due, to the Stock Certificate-holders direct or through the Treasury Officer, as they may desire

3. Stock Certificates are not negotiable by endorsement, and are consequently of no value in the hands of a wrongful holder, and the risks arising from the possession of, or repeated transmission of, negotiable Securities, are thereby avoided.

4. In the event of the loss of a Stock Certificate by theft, fire, &c., a fresh Certificate will issue on satisfactory evidence of loss.

Duties and Powers of District Engineers (1).

18. The District Engineer will be the officer in immediate charge of all the roads and buildings and other public works, the control of which is vested in a District or Local Board. He will arrange the details of their construction and be responsible for their custody and maintenance in efficient repair. He will keep accurate plans of the land appertaining to all roads and buildings in his charge, and take prompt steps to prevent encoachments.

19. The District Engineer will receive positive orders only from the Chairman of the District Board. The duty of yielding implicit obedience to any orders so received must be clearly understood; but in the interpretation of general instructions he will act upon his own judgment.

20. District Engineers will be responsible for the accuracy of all reports, plans, designs, specifications and estimates prepared by them, and must attest them by their signatures.

21. District Engineers will pay strict attention to the economical application of all labour and materials used on works in their charge, and will be responsible for preventing the expenditure on any work exceeding the amount of the sanctioned estimate. They should also strive to bring economically into use, on all occasions, the articles procurable in the local markets and the natural products of the district.

22. District Engineers must exact from their subordinates a correct performance of their duties and give them all proper instructions. They will furnish them with proper working drawings and written instructions as to the execution of any works they may be entrusted with, using additional precautions to prevent errors or accidents at a distance from the head-quarters of the district. They will frequently inspect outlying roads and works in progress, and see that the work carried on by their subordinates or contractors is sound and economical. When on tour they will keep a journal in which the distances travelled will be noted. They will also keep note-books in which will be entered daily any particulars with reference to works in progress which may call for remark, the dates of all inspections, the orders issued to subordinates, the check measurements taken, the accounts inspected, and generally any details concerning their duties which may be worthy of remark. These note books will be considered official records.

23. District Engineers will be responsible that their accounts are regularly posted from day to day.

Duties and Powers of Inspector of Local Works (I.)

24. The Inspector of Local Works will make frequent tours of inspection in the districts of the Commissioner's division to which he is appointed. He will not only minutely survey and report upon the state of the various works, whether completed or in progress in each district, but will carefully enquire into the system of management prevailing in respect to the preparation and cost of materials, the style of execution, the price of labour, and the rates of work. He will satisfy himself that building or road materials and other resources available in each district are brought into use in the most efficient and economical manner, and that the means of communication, projected or completed, are adapted to the requirements of the traffic.

25. The Inspector of Local Works will also, during his inspections, enquire into and report on the efficiency of the Engineering establishments employed under District or Local Boards.

26. The Inspector of Local Works will also carefully inspect the books of District Engineers and their subordinates and the arrangement and procedure for the primary accounts, and see that they are kept in the manner prescribed.

27. Besides his regular tours of inspection, the Inspector of Local Works will proceed to any place in his division whenever it may be necessary for him to report on any important design or work, or on any serious accident or threatened danger to any works, or on any calamity, actual or anticipated, the remedy for which may appear to be within the range of engineering skill.

28. Detailed reports of all his inspections shall be drawn up by the Inspector of Local Works for the information of the Commissioner, and a copy thereof, so far as may relate to a particular district, shall be forwarded by him to the District or Local Board concerned through the Magistrate of the District.

29. Although the detailed designs and estimates for works will commonly be prepared by District Engineers, the arrangement and general plan of all important works should be concerted with the Inspector of Local Works, who will be responsible for the engineering character of every project that he passes on with his approval. The Inspector of Local Works may, if he see fit, himself prepare the designs for any work in his division. He will communicate freely and personally on all professional matters with District Engineers, and afford them the benefit of his advice in the performance of their duties.

30. The Inspector of Local Works will, in submitting to the Commissioner any reports, plans, estimates or other documents relating to the works of District Boards, invariably state his own opinion as to the suitability of the designs and reasonableness of the rates. He must also check the calculations in detail of all estimates and compare the quantities in the estimates with those shown on the drawings. If projects are sent up by District Boards without proper information, he will return them for such further information as the case may need.

31. The Office of the Inspector of Local Works will be located in the same place as that of the Commissioner of the Division, and he will correspond direct with District Boards regarding all matters in which he exercises powers assigned to him by these rules.

Mode of preparation and submission of plans, designs, specifications, and estimates for works for approval and sanction (m).

32. All estimates and projects for the construction or repair of buildings, roads, bridges, and other public works undertaken by District and Local Boards shall be prepared in the forms prescribed in the Public Works Department Code, Volume I, Chapter VII (fifth edition), and submitted for the sanction of the District or Local Board in meeting, and all sanctions given by the District or Local Boards shall be formally recorded in their proceedings.

33. In the case of all works of importance, the District Engineer shall submit a rough design for the approval of the Inspector of Local Works before preparing the detailed drawings and estimates.

34. No proposal for the execution of any work shall be sanctioned by a District or Local Board, unless it be accompanied by a properly detailed estimate, and, when necessary, by properly prepared drawings showing fully the work proposed.

35. In the case of the following classes of estimates or projects, the sanction of the District or Local Board shall be provisional only, and subject to the confirmation and approval of the authority indicated:—

(f).	All estimates for new works or repairs, the amount of which exceeds Rs. 2,500	The approval and countersignature of the Inspector of Local Works.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE attention of the Government of India has been drawn, by a recent decision of Mr. Justice Scott of the Bombay High Court (I. L. R. 10 Bom. 211), to the absence of any provision in the Indian Companies Act, 1882 (Act VI of 1882), similar to that contained in section 4 of the Statute 46 & 47 Vic., cap. 28, under which, in the distribution of the assets of any company being wound up, the wages of clerks and workmen are, subject to certain restrictions, given priority over other debts. With the view of remedying this defect in the Indian law, the present Bill has been prepared. While following generally the lines of the English Statute, the Bill adopts the modifications of the law regarding the priority of the wages of workmen, in the case of the bankruptcy of private employers, made by section 40 of the English Bankruptcy Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vic., cap. 52). As these provisions of the English Bankruptcy Act have been followed in the Indian Bankruptcy Bill now before the Legislative Council of the Governor General, it seems desirable that the amendment which this Bill makes in the Indian Companies Act should be drawn so far as possible in identical terms.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the same period for the past ten
The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage, saturated a r being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional stations for the period in question during the past stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 30th July 1886.

CALCUTTA, the 3rd August 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 30TH OF JULY 1886.

After the advance and disappearance on Monday, the 19th instant, of the feeble barometric depression which had existed so persistently at the head of the Bay, a fairly strong monsoon current set in over the province, and this has continued to blow during the whole of the week under review. The meteorological conditions of the week in Bengal have been almost normal for the time of year, and they therefore do not call for much detailed comment. The principal feature of interest has been the formation of an exceedingly feeble and slight barometric depression over part of Western Bengal and the eastern part of South Behar, round which there was the usual distinct, but feeble, cyclonic circulation of winds. This depression was well marked on Monday, the 26th instant, and its centre on this day was probably over the Santhal Pergunnahs. The feeble storm then advanced in a north-westerly direction, and on Tuesday, the 27th, its centre appeared to be between Gya and Bhagulpore. The depression, however, continued to be decidedly feeble, but somewhat extensive, and a considerable part of the western districts of the province was included in its area; on this day also winds were still more or less cyclonic in direction round it. On Wednesday, the 28th, the barometric depression commenced to fill up, and on the 29th it had almost ceased to exist. Finally, on the 30th the distribution of pressure became normal, the lowest pressures being reported from the western stations in Behar, and winds became southerly, south-easterly and easterly over the whole province. During the continuance of this depression, as usual rather heavy rain fell in the districts affected by it, and thus it will be seen that the conditions have been decidedly favourable to heavy rainfall over the western districts of the province generally, and particularly in South Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and parts of South-West and Central Bengal.

The variations of pressure during the week have been decidedly large. On the 24th pressure rose generally over the province, but for the next three or four days the variations were to a great extent dependent on the formation and movement of the barometric depression which has been briefly described above, while the disappearance of the feeble storm was followed by an extremely rapid rise of pressure over the whole province. The mean pressure over the whole province for the week has, however, been almost absolutely normal, and the variation is only a defect of about two-thousandths of an inch. At the individual stations the extreme variations of the average pressures from the normal are from an excess of 0·034″ at False Point to a defect of 0·033″ at Gya.

The variations of temperature for the week, on the other hand, have not been large, and over the greater part of the province the mean temperature has been nearly normal Thus in Orissa and South-West and East Bengal the temperature has only varied a few tenths of a degree from the normal. In North Behar the temperature registered has been 1° in excess, and in Chutia Nagpur it has been 1·2° in defect. In South Behar, on the other hand, owing probably to the very heavy rainfall reported from this district, the mean temperature has been no less than 3·1° below the normal. For the whole province the temperature for the week has been 0·6° below the normal.

Rainfall has been fairly general throughout the whole week, but undoubtedly the days on which the rainfall was most copious were the 25th, 26th, and 27th, and on these days many parts of the province, and particularly the western districts, received exceedingly heavy rain. This, as pointed out above, was probably due to the existence of the barometric depression. The consequence is that the greater part of the province has received a rainfall which is rather largely in excess of the normal. The districts in which the fall has been most copious have been South Behar and South-West Bengal, where the fall has been nearly double the normal amount. North Behar and Chutia Nagpur have also received large falls, which are nearly half as large again as the normal, and North and East Bengal and Orissa have received falls not very far removed from the normal. The average rainfall in South Behar for the week has been over 7 inches, and in South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur it has been between 5 and 6 inches. North Behar and East Bengal have received between 4 and 5 inches, while Orissa and North Bengal have only received between 2 and 3 inches. Compared with the normal fall, and expressed as a percentage, South Behar has received an average fall equal to 214 per cent. of the normal. In Chutia Nagpur the fall has equalled 152 per cent.; in South-West Bengal the fall has been 175 per cent.; and in North Behar it has been 164 per cent. On the other hand, in East Bengal, the fall has been 95 per cent.; in North Bengal it has equalled 85 per cent.; and in Orissa only 84 per cent. Taking these districts to be of equal value, the rainfall for the week for the whole province has equalled 138 per cent. of the normal.

Some stations have received exceedingly heavy rainfall during the week. Thus in Chutia Nagpur, Jhalda (Manbhoom district) received 13·52 inches, Silli (Lohardugga district) 13·80 inches, and Raghunathpur (Manbhoom district) 11·08 inches. In South Behar, Gya has reported 14·53 inches, Dinapur 12·31 inches, Monghyr 12·38 inches, and Jamui 11·04 (?) inches. In South-West Bengal, Raneegunge has registered 19·79 inches, and Hetampur (Beerbhoom district) 17·29 inches. On particular days, too, some extraordinary rainfalls have been reported. Thus on the 26th Raneegunge registered no less than 16·89 inches of rain, and on the 15th Hetampur received 15·32 inches. These amounts for these stations are most excessive. Again, on the 26th, Gungajalghati (Bankoorah district) received 7 inches, and Gya on the 27th 8·27 inches. Rainfalls on single days in excess of 5 inches have been rather common, and have during the week been reported from the following stations :—Buseerhat, Hooghly, Maliara, Bolpore, Bettiah, Nowadah, Pakri Barawan, Barrh, Silli, Raghunathpur, and Jhalda.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 30th of July 1886 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, INDIA;
Calcutta, the 2nd August 1886.

MEMORANDUM.

DURING the week ending 17th July 1886, the birth and death rates of the principal Municipalities in Bengal (excepting Dacca and Naraingunge from which returns have not yet been received), stood at 20·3 and 26·9 per 1,000, respectively, as opposed to 17·8 and 24·8 per 1,000, respectively, in the preceding week ending 10th July, showing a substantial improvement in the registration of both events.

2. The highest birth and death rates were returned by the following Municipalities :—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Burdwan	35·1	Gya	47·8
Gya	34·8	Patna	33·1
Comillah	30·8	Suburbs of Calcutta ...	31·2
Chittagong	30·5	Serampore	29·4
Puri	155·3

3. The diseases specified below proved fatal at the rates exhibited opposite to them :—

	Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
	17th July 1886.	10th July 1886.
Cholera	5·4	6·6
Small-pox	·04	·04
Fever	10·0	8·4
Bowel-complaints	3·5	3·1
Injury	·5	·2
Other causes	7·4	6·1

indicating chiefly that, in comparison with the mortality of the preceding week, the severity of cholera had, on the whole, declined sensibly, but that the death-rates from fever and the maladies classed under the head of "Other causes" had increased to a noticeable extent.

4. Of the diseases indicated above, excluding small-pox and injury, the casualties from which were nowhere large, and fever and bowel-complaints which proved conspicuously fatal only in the Gya and Puri town, viz. at the rates of 21·2 and 21·0 per 1,000 of population, respectively, cholera and "Other causes" caused the greatest loss of life in the following Municipalities :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.
Puri	113·3	Serampore	15·7
Patna	9·4	Gya	14·8
Gya	7·4	Suburbs of Calcutta ...	11·4
Suburbs of Calcutta ...	4·3	Kishnaghur	11·3
		Bhagulpore	10·9

The mortality from cholera in the Puri town, although high, was considerably below that of the preceding week, indicating that the virulence of the disease is subsiding.

5. The mortality according to Sex, Class and Age, stands as follows :—

According to Sex.	Ratio per mille.
Males	25·1
Females	28·9
Ratio of male deaths to every 100 female deaths	98

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorised form of age classification.

CALCUTTA SMALL CAUSE COURT.

NOTICE.

IN accordance with suggestions contained in a report to the High Court, signed by Mr. Justice Wilson and Mr. Justice Trevelyan, on their inspection of the Calcutta Small Cause Court, a new system will, on and after the 28th October 1886, be tried for the purpose of revising the list of cases which come daily into the court.

All summons cases will, on the returnable date of the summons, come before one only of the Judges, who will revise the whole list of the court for each day.

He will go through the list, enter "compromises," make decrees in cases in which the defendant does not appear, give fresh summonses in cases where the summons has not been served, grant necessary postponements, ascertain what causes are defended, and dispose of any cases which, in his judgment, can be disposed of summarily.

This would leave the whole time of the other Judges free for the trial of defended causes. The defended causes will be assigned by the Judge revising the list to the lists of the different Judges on the earliest possible days, and will be adjourned by him to those days. The Judge revising the list will have before him the list of each Judge for each day, so far as already filled up, and will arrange that there should always be a sufficient number of cases, say 25 or 30, on each Judge's list. Each of the other Judges will thus have each day his list of defended cases provided for him. When a second summons has been granted, the case will, on the new return day, come again before the Judge who revises the list for that day.

If under this system a Judge should at any time find his list becoming clogged, he will communicate with the revising Judge, and inform the latter that he must have a day or days left clear to enable him to pull up. Thus if on the first of the month a Judge finds that his lists were getting blocked, and that it will take a day to get them clear, he will tell the revising Judge that this is the case. The latter, when revising the lists of the Judge in question, may see that they are already filled, say up to the 9th: he will leave the 10th blank. The Judge who had found himself blocked, knowing that the 10th would be a clear day, will use his discretion: he will either go on as usual up to the 10th, trusting to clear himself on that day, or will adjourn a sufficient number of cases to that day to enable him to take the other cases as nearly as possible on their proper dates.

ADJOURNMENTS.

No "costs of the day" will be allowed on adjournments.

Nor will adjournments be allowed, even by consent, except upon good cause shown.

By order of the Court,

COURT OF SMALL CAUSES OF CALCUTTA, The 28th July 1886.

C. Y. C. BOLST, Clerk of the Court.

STOCK CERTIFICATES.

As it does not appear to be generally known that Government Promissory Notes can be readily converted into Stock Certificates and re-converted into Promissory Notes at the option of the holders, and that Stock Certificate-holders enjoy certain special advantages, the attention of holders of Government Securities is drawn to the following particulars:—

1. Government Promissory Notes can be converted into Stock Certificates and re-converted into Promissory Notes at any time at the option of the holder.

2. The holders of Stock Certificates are not required to present them in person or by agent when the interest becomes due. On application made, interest will be paid to Stock Certificate-holders by warrants on any Government Treasury, which warrants will be sent by post, on the day the interest falls due, to the Stock Certificate-holders direct or through the Treasury Officer, as they may desire.

3. Stock Certificates are not negotiable by endorsement, and are consequently of no value in the hands of a wrongful holder, and the risks arising from the possession of, or repeated transmission of, negotiable Securities, are thereby avoided.

4. In the event of the loss of a Stock Certificate by theft, fire, &c., a fresh Certificate will issue on satisfactory evidence of loss.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India, &c.

[Reprinted from the Gazette of India.]

THE following notification, issued by the Government of India, Home Department, is published for general information.

F. B. PEACOCK,
Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

MEDICAL.

The 30th July 1886.

No. 361.—In continuation of G. G. O. No. 13, dated 2nd January 1880, and in modification of the orders marginally noted, the Governor-General in Council is pleased, with the sanction of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, to issue the following orders regarding the administrative staff of the Indian Medical Service in the several Provinces of India.

Home Department notification No. 50, dated 15th March 880.
Home Department Resolution Nos. 336-42F., dated 30th July 1880.

2. The administrative appointments are the following:—

		Monthly salary. Rs.
1	Surgeon-General and Sanitary Commissioner with the Government of India	2,700
1	Secretary to the Surgeon-General and Special Assistant to the Sanitary Commissioner with the Government of India ...	1,200	rising to 1,400
1	Deputy Surgeon-General with title of Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals for civil medical administration in Bengal ...	2,250
1	Ditto ditto for North-Western Provinces and Oudh...	2,250
1	Ditto ditto for Punjab	2,000
1	Deputy Surgeon General for civil medical administration in the Central Provinces	1,800
1	Surgeon-General with the Government of Madras	2,500
1	Secretary to Surgeon-General with the Government of Madras ...	800	consolidated.
1	Surgeon-General with the Government of Bombay	2,500
1	Secretary to Surgeon-General with the Government of Bombay ...	800	consolidated

3. The Surgeons-General with the Government of India and with the Governments of Madras and Bombay will, in addition to performing civil administrative duties, be Heads of the Indian Medical Departments in their respective Presidencies. It will be their duty, among other matters, to propose transfers between the Military and Civil Departments, to recommend for promotion to the administrative grades, and to advise the Government on all questions relating to the admission of officers and subordinates to the Indian Medical Service, to the conduct and services of Indian Medical officers of all grades, and to the supply of medicines and hospital stores. The Surgeon-General with the Government of India will be entitled to receive any information he desires from the Deputy Surgeons-General attached to the Local Governments and Administrations, and to communicate with these officers in regard to the operation of departmental rules and orders; but he will exercise no direct authority over these officers who will be solely under the orders of the Local Government or Administration to which each belongs.

4. Officers will be selected for the above named administrative officers by the Government of India for the Bengal Presidency, and by the Governments of Madras and Bombay for those Presidencies respectively. Selections will be made in each Presidency from the whole Indian Medical Service of that Presidency; and the principles of selection hitherto followed in all other respects in making such appointments will be observed.

5. The Deputy Surgeon-General for the Central Provinces will also be Sanitary Commissioner for those provinces. As already notified in the Military Department order of the 2nd January 1880 above quoted, the Deputy Surgeon-General of the Eastern Frontier District will, in addition to his military duties, carry on the civil medical administration of Assam, and will also perform the duties of Sanitary Commissioner in that Province. The Deputy Surgeon-General of the Punjab Frontier Force will also exercise the civil medical administration of that circle, and in respect of these civil duties, he will be subject to the orders of the Provincial Deputy Surgeon-General, styled Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

6. In Central India, the Presidency Surgeon at Indore will perform the duties of an administrative medical officer as regards all civil medical officers and subordinates employed under the orders of the Agent to the Governor-General for Central India. He will exercise a general supervision over these officers, and advise the Agent to the Governor-General on all civil medical arrangements.

7. In Berar, the Sanitary Commissioner will be entrusted with the medical administrative duties of the Province, instead of the Deputy Surgeon-General at Hyderabad, who is now a purely military officer.

8. The administrative medical and sanitary duties, including vaccination, will, for the Province of Burma, be performed by the Inspector-General of Jails, in addition to his other duties.

9. In the Andamans, the Senior Medical Officer will be entrusted with the medical administrative duties of the Settlement, including the Nicobars.

10. In Rajputana, the Superintendent-General of Dispensaries and Vaccination will exercise the functions of an administrative medical officer in respect of all civil medical duties.

11. In Biluchistan, the Residency Surgeon, Quetta, will exercise the functions of an administrative medical officer in respect of the civil medical duties in Biluchistan, at Sibi, and on the Bolan and Sind-Peshin State Railways.

12. In minor matters, such as the submission of periodical returns and furnishing information, the officers abovenamed, viz. the Residency Surgeon, Indore, the Sanitary Commissioner, Berar, the Inspector-General of Jails, Burma, the Senior Medical Officer of the Andamans, and the Superintendent-General of Dispensaries, Rajputana, and the Residency Surgeon, Quetta, will communicate direct with the Surgeon-General with the Government of India; but all matters of importance should be submitted to the Government of India by the Agent to the Governor-General for Central India, the Resident at Hyderabad, the Chief Commissioner of Burma, the Superintendent of Port Blair, or the Agent to the Governor-General for Rajputana or Biluchistan, as the case may be.

13. In all Provinces for which a separate Sanitary Commissioner is sanctioned, the Sanitary Department will, except in regard to leave, pensions, and such question, remain distinct from, and not subordinate to, the Medical Department; and in selection for such posts, knowledge and experience as a sanitary officer will be specially considered. The Sanitary Commissioners of such Provinces shall no longer, in virtue of their appointments as such, have the rank and privileges of a Deputy Surgeon-General. This rule will apply to all officers appointed as Sanitary Commissioners after the 19th March 1886, the date of receipt of the Secretary of State's Despatch No. 37 (Military), dated London, 25th February 1886. As a compensation for the withdrawal from Sanitary Commissioners of the rank and privileges of a Deputy Surgeon-General, Her Majesty's Government have sanctioned the annual grant of four extra pensions of £100 each to senior officers of the Indian Medical Department in the proportion of two for the Bengal and one each for the Madras and Bombay Medical Services. The conditions attaching to the grant of these pensions are embodied in India Army Circulars of 1886, clause 91, issued by the Military Department.

14. The supervision of the Vaccination Department will form an important part of the duties of the Sanitary Commissioner in each Province. The Superintendents of Vaccination are Deputy Sanitary Commissioners, under the orders of the Sanitary Commissioner, who will utilise not only them, but also the whole vaccination staff, on sanitary work. Civil Surgeons will also assist the Sanitary Department as far as practicable in this important duty.

15. Although the administration of the Indian Medical Service is divided into two branches, Civil and Military, Indian Medical officers will remain, as now, military officers, those in civil employment being only lent to the Civil Department, and being liable to be called on for military duty in the event of their services being required.

JUDICIAL.

The 30th July 1886.

No. 1048.—As some misapprehension appears to exist regarding the proceedings to be taken under the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881 (Statute 44 and 45 Vic., Cap. 69), it is deemed expedient to republish the Statute, in continuation of Home Department

Notification No. 215, dated the 12th February 1886, which published for general information an Order of Her Majesty in Council, wherein it is directed that, on and after the 1st day of July 1886, Part II of the above Statute shall apply to the group of British Possessions mentioned in the margin.

Her Majesty's East Indian Territories.
Ceylon.
The Straits Settlements.

2. In thus republishing the Statute, the Governor-General in Council considers it desirable to invite the attention of all officers concerned to those of its provisions which relate to the issue and endorsement of warrants for the arrest of fugitive offenders. Thus it will be noticed that when a warrant has been issued in one part of Her Majesty's dominions for the apprehension of a fugitive offender from that part, a Judge of a Superior Court in another part of Her Majesty's dominions in, or on the way to, which the fugitive is or is suspected to be, is, for the purposes of Part I of the Statute, empowered by section 3 to endorse the warrant, and it is necessary that the proper endorsement should be effected before an arrest can legally be made thereunder. By section 4 of the Statute, a Magistrate of any part of Her Majesty's dominions is empowered, under circumstances therein described, to issue a provisional warrant for the apprehension of a fugitive. The corresponding provisions of Part II of the Statute are contained in sections 13 and 16 respectively, under which the necessary power in both classes of cases is vested in Magistrates. A summons requiring the attendance of a witness, issued by a Judge or Magistrate having lawful authority in this behalf in a British possession of a group to which Part II of the Statute applies, may, under section 15, be endorsed by a Magistrate in any other British possession concerned of the same group, and, when so endorsed, may be legally enforced. Section 26 of the Act further empowers the authority endorsing a warrant to name in the endorsement certain persons, who shall, in addition to the persons to whom the warrant was originally addressed, be authorised to execute the same.

3. The Governor-General in Council trusts that, when it is necessary to take action under the Statute in question, the provisions above referred to, as also all other provisions thereof, will be carefully observed.

CHAPTER 69.

An Act to amend the Law with respect to Fugitive Offenders in Her Majesty's Dominions, and for other purposes connected with the Trial of Offenders [27th August 1881].

BE it enacted by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows (that is to say)—

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881.

PART I.

RETURN OF FUGITIVES.

Liability of fugitive to be apprehended and returned.

2. Where a person accused of having committed an offence (to which this part of this Act applies) in one part of Her Majesty's dominions has left that part, such person (in this Act referred to as a fugitive from that part) if found in another part of Her Majesty's dominions shall be liable to be apprehended and returned in manner provided by this Act to the part from which he is a fugitive.

A fugitive may be so apprehended under an endorsed warrant or a provisional warrant.

Endorsing of warrant for apprehension of fugitive.

3. Where a warrant has been issued in one part of Her Majesty's dominions for the apprehension of a fugitive from that part, any of the following authorities in another part of Her Majesty's dominions in or on the way to which the fugitive is or is suspected to be (that is to say)—

(1) a judge of a superior court in such part; and
(2) in the United Kingdom, a Secretary of State and one of the magistrates of the metropolitan police court in Bow Street; and
(3) in a British possession, the governor of that possession, if satisfied that the warrant was issued by some person having lawful authority to issue the same, may endorse such warrant in manner provided by this Act, and the warrant so endorsed shall be a sufficient authority to apprehend the fugitive in the part of Her Majesty's dominions in which it is endorsed, and bring him before a magistrate.

Provisional warrant for apprehension of fugitive.

4. A magistrate of any part of Her Majesty's dominions may issue a provisional warrant for the apprehension of a fugitive, who is or is suspected of being in or on his way to that part on such information, and under such circumstances as would in his opinion justify the issue of a warrant if the offence of which the fugitive is accused had been committed within his jurisdiction, and such warrant may be backed and executed accordingly.

A magistrate issuing a provisional warrant shall forthwith send a report of the issue, together with the information or a certified copy thereof, if he is in the United Kingdom, to a Secretary of State, and, if he is in a British possession, to the governor of that possession, and the Secretary of State or governor may, if he think fit, discharge the person apprehended under such warrant.

Dealing with fugitive when apprehended.

5. A fugitive when apprehended shall be brought before a magistrate, who (subject to the provisions of this Act) shall hear the case in the same manner and have the same jurisdiction and powers, as near as may be (including the power to remand and admit to bail), as if the fugitive were charged with an offence committed within his jurisdiction.

If the endorsed warrant for the apprehension of the fugitive is duly authenticated, and such evidence is produced as (subject to the provisions of this Act), according to the law ordinarily administered by the magistrate, raises a strong or probable presumption that the fugitive committed the offence mentioned in the warrant, and that the offence is one to which this part of this Act applies, the magistrate shall commit the fugitive to prison to await his return, and shall forthwith send a certificate of the committal and such report of the case as he may think fit, if in the United Kingdom, to a Secretary of State, and, if in a British possession, to the governor of that possession.

Where the magistrate commits the fugitive to prison, he shall inform the fugitive that he will not be surrendered until after the expiration of fifteen days, and that he has a right to apply for a writ of habeas corpus, or other like process.

A fugitive apprehended on a provisional warrant may be from time to time remanded for such reasonable time, not exceeding seven days at any one time, as under the circumstances seems requisite for the production of an endorsed warrant.

Return of fugitive by warrant.

6. Upon the expiration of fifteen days after a fugitive has been committed to prison to await his return, or if a writ of habeas corpus or other like process is issued with reference to such fugitive by a superior court, after the final decision of the court in the case,—

(1) if the fugitive is so committed in the United Kingdom, a Secretary of State; and

(2) if the fugitive is so committed in a British possession, the governor of that possession, may, if he thinks it just, by warrant under his hand order that fugitive to be returned to the part of Her Majesty's dominions from which he is a fugitive, and for that purpose to be delivered into the custody of the persons to whom the warrant is addressed, or some one or more of them, and to be held in custody, and conveyed by sea or otherwise to the said part of Her Majesty's dominions, to be dealt with there in due course of law as if he had been there apprehended, and such warrant shall be forthwith executed according to the tenor thereof.

The Governor or other chief officer of any prison, on request of any person having the custody of a fugitive under any such warrant, and on payment or tender of a reasonable amount for expenses, shall receive such fugitive and detain him for such reasonable time as may be requested by the said person for the purpose of the proper execution of the warrant.

Discharge of person apprehended not returned within one month.

7. If a fugitive who, in pursuance of this part of this Act, has been committed to prison in any part of Her Majesty's dominions to await his return, is not conveyed out of that part within one month after such committal, a superior court, upon application by or on behalf of the fugitive, and upon proof that reasonable notice of the intention to make such application has been given, if the said part is the United Kingdom, to a Secretary of State, and, if the said part is a British possession, to the governor of the possession, may, unless sufficient cause is shown to the contrary, order the fugitive to be discharged out of custody.

Sending back of persons apprehended if not prosecuted within six months or acquitted.

8. Where a person accused of an offence and returned in pursuance of this part of this Act to any part of Her Majesty's dominions, either is not prosecuted for the said offence within six months after his arrival in that part, or is acquitted of the said offence, then, if that part is the United Kingdom, a Secretary of State, and, if that part is a British possession, the governor of that possession, may, if he think fit, on the request of such person, cause him to be sent back free of cost, and with as little delay as possible, to the part of Her Majesty's dominions in or on his way to which he was apprehended.

Offences to which this part of this Act applies.

9. PART VI.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

Third publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 7th July, 1886, and was referred to a Select Committee on the 14th idem :—

No. 13 OF 1886.

A Bill to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1882.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1882, in manner hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:— VI of 1882.

1. After section 200 of the Indian Companies Act, 1882, the following section shall be inserted, namely:— VI of 1882. Insertion of new section after section 200.

[46 & 47 Vic., c. 28, s. 4.] Wages and salaries to be preferential claims and to rank equally.

"200A. (1) In the distribution of the assets of any company being wound up under this Act, there shall be paid in priority to all other debts—

"(a) all wages or salary of any clerk or servant in respect of services rendered to the company within the four months next before the commencement of the winding up, not exceeding five hundred rupees for each clerk or servant; and [Indian Bankruptcy Bill, s. 38, cls. (b) and (c): 55 Law J. Rep. Q. B. 288.]

"(b) all wages of any labourer or workman, not exceeding five hundred rupees for each, whether payable for time or piece-work, in respect of services rendered to the company within the four months next before the commencement of the winding up.

"(2) The foregoing debts shall rank equally among themselves, and shall be paid in full, unless the assets of the company are insufficient to meet them, in which case they shall abate in equal proportions among themselves.

"(3) Subject to the retention of such sums as may be necessary for the cost of administration or otherwise, the liquidator or liquidators or official liquidator shall discharge the foregoing debts forthwith, so far as the assets of the company are and will be sufficient to meet them, as and when the assets come into the hands of the liquidator or liquidators or official liquidator." [46 & 47 Vic. c. 28, s. 6.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE attention of the Government of India has been drawn, by a recent decision of Mr. Justice Scott of the Bombay High Court (I. L. R. 10 Bom. 211), to the absence of any provision in the Indian Companies Act, 1882 (Act VI of 1882), similar to that contained in section 4 of the Statute 46 & 47 Vic., cap. 28, under which, in the distribution of the assets of any company being wound up, the wages of clerks and workmen are, subject to certain restrictions, given priority over other debts. With the view of remedying this defect in the Indian law, the present Bill has been prepared. While following generally the lines of the English Statute, the Bill adopts the modifications of the law regarding the priority of the wages of workmen, in the case of the bankruptcy of private employers, made by section 40 of the English Bankruptcy Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vic., cap. 52). As these provisions of the English Bankruptcy Act have been followed in the Indian Bankruptcy Bill now before the Legislative Council of the Governor General, it seems desirable that the amendment which this Bill makes in the Indian Companies Act should be drawn so far as possible in identical terms.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE SHIPPING OFFICES IN BENGAL FOR 1885-86.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MARINE.

Calcutta, the 5th August 1886.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

A Report from the Board of Revenue, No. 541B, dated the 1st July 1886, on the working of the Calcutta Shipping Office, and of the Shipping Offices at the several outports, during the year 1885-86.

During the year under report, several changes took place in the personnel of the Calcutta Shipping Office. Lieutenant E. W. Petley, R.N., acted as Shipping-Master during the absence of Captain Stiffe for about a month and a half. On the death of Mr. H. W. W. Ellis, the late Deputy Shipping-Master, which was reported to Government in December last, Mr. J. C. Hunton, Assistant Shipping Master, who had been acting as Deputy Shipping-Master since the 15th September 1885, was appointed to succeed him, and Mr. W. G. Hannay was appointed Assistant Shipping-Master vice Mr. Hunton. Both these officers have been well reported on.

2. More than a year has elapsed since the introduction of the present system of accounts in the Calcutta Shipping Office, and during that time it is said to have worked well, and to the satisfaction of all parties concerned. A representation having been made by certain boarding-house keepers that they found a difficulty in cashing after bank hours cheques of seamen who had to join their vessels at once, the Shipping Office, it is said, undertook to cash its own cheques in urgent cases after bank hours. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that such arrangements have been made as will prevent all danger of complications arising from this practice.

3. The receipts of the Calcutta Shipping Office during the year under report amounted to Rs. 24,635-1-9, and the disbursements to Rs. 19,903-4-3, leaving a balance in favour of the office of Rs. 4,731-13 6. These figures, though differing somewhat from those of the previous year, do not compare unfavourably with them; for while, on the one hand, the receipts were diminished owing to the steamers of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company shipping and discharging their crews at Bombay instead of at Calcutta as they did in the preceding year, on the other hand there was a saving in expenditure in consequence of the death of Mr Ellis, the late Deputy Shipping-Master. The net profits of the year exceeded those of the previous year by Rs. 288-3-3.

4. The following statement shows the result of the transactions during the year compared with that of the preceding year in funds held in trust by the Calcutta Shipping Office on account of both European and Native seamen :—

	1884-85			1885-86
	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs	A.	P.
Opening balance	6,299	10	8	3,759	4	10
Receipts	56,452	8	11	57,295	10	0
Total ...	62,752	3	7	61,054	14	10
Repaid and lapsed to Government ...	58,992	14	9	53,170	14	4
Closing balance	3,759	4	10	7,884	0	6

The increase in receipts was chiefly under the head "Deposit money of British seamen." It is said that, owing to the depression in trade, the demand for European seamen fell so low that it was deemed expedient, in the case of every seaman discharged by mutual consent, to require him to deposit a portion of his wages as security against his falling into distress. The amount realised on this account during the year exceeded that realised in the previous year by Rs. 10,112-10-11. The whole of it, however, was not repaid before the close of the year, as many of the seamen from whom deposits had been taken during the latter part of the year had not up to its close obtained employment either on boardship or on shore, and there remained therefore a balance in hand of Rs. 5,323-9-1. The amount realised as "deposit money of native seamen" fell from Rs. 8,717-8-4 in the year 1884-85 to Rs. 1,094-1-4 in the year under review, the decrease being attributed to the diminution in the number of seamen discharged.

5. The total amount received during the year on account of the estates of deceased British seamen was Rs. 6,888-9-4, the whole of which was remitted to the Board of Trade as usual. Including the balance brought forward from the previous year, the receipts on account of the estates of deceased native seamen amounted to Rs. 4,681-10; the disbursements amounted to Rs. 2,926-15-9, and Rs. 295-3-2 lasped to Government, thus leaving a balance at the end of the year of Rs. 1,459-7-1, which might have been reduced but for the fact that the effects of some estates were deposited only a few days before the close of the year, and there was not sufficient time for their disposal. The total amount remitted by seamen to their families at home was Rs. 16,990-11 This is considerably less than the amount remitted in any of the three preceding years, and the decrease is said to be probably due to the unprecedentedly high rate of exchange ruling for the money-orders by means of which these remittances are made.

6. The numbers of seamen of all nationalities shipped and discharged through the Calcutta Shipping Office during the year were 14,829 and 13,946, respectively, against 15,649 and 14,438, the corresponding numbers of the previous year. There were 207 desertions reported against 202 in the previous year. The number of distressed British seamen sent home during the year was

74, of whom 19 were sent away for want of employment, 3 for injury sustained while serving on boardship, 1 for insanity, and the remainder for sickness. It is understood that the 19 sent away for want of employment were of the class of seamen usually employed as stokers, coal-trimmers, stewards, &c., regarding whom it is observed "there is little or no demand here" This fact should be brought to the notice of the Board of Trade, through whom a warning might with advantage be conveyed to the class of seamen referred to against engaging for service which is likely to terminate in any part of India

7. The number of ships visited by the Deputy and Assistant Shipping-Masters for the purpose of enquiring into the health of the crews, inspecting provisions, shipping, discharging, or paying off crews, was 363 against 384 in the previous year, the decrease being due to the fact that fewer ships arrived during the first quarter of the year under report. The health of the seamen, both European and native, is reported to have been good. The number of casualties at sea among the former was 41 against 27 in the previous year, the chief cause of death being drowning. Fifteen cases of scurvy were reported during the year, 5 of which were among European and 10 among native seamen. In every instance due enquiry was instituted and proper steps were taken to remedy any defects brought to light. Three complaints regarding shortness of provisions and lime-juice, and one of extortion, were made by native seamen during the year. In all except the last, which proved on enquiry to be groundless, compensation was after due enquiry awarded.

8. An important step was taken during the year in the introduction at the port of Calcutta of the system of "continuous discharges." Under this system native seamen (for whom alone it is intended) are rendered practically independent of the licensed broker and ghât serang, as they can always be sure of obtaining employment by the mere production of their certificates, if the remarks recorded on the certificates, on the men being discharged after a voyage, are of a favourable character. The system has, however, been introduced only on a voluntary footing, and its success will depend on the extent to which advantage is taken of it by Shipping Companies in making the possession of a "continuous discharge" an indispensable condition of employment. By means of the descriptive roll which is provided for under this system, it is expected that the practice of giving substitutes, so common among native seamen, will to some extent be checked, as false personation will be rendered less impossible of detection. The form of agreement between masters and seamen was revised during the year, and a scale of provisions for lascar and native seamen on board foreign-going and home-trade ships, under section 28 (1), Act V of 1883, was sanctioned.

9. The receipts of the Chittagong Shipping Office during the year under report amounted to Rs. 252-6, against Rs. 343 13-9, Rs. 396-8, and Rs. 436-8, the total receipts of the three preceding years. The decrease is again ascribed to the falling off in the number of native lascars both shipped and discharged. The total amount of the funds held in trust by the Shipping Office on account of the wages and effects of British and native seamen was Rs. 8,616-10-2, the whole of which was disbursed before the close of the year. The number of seamen, both European and native, shipped and discharged during the year was 275 against 298, the number shipped and discharged in the previous year There was a large increase in the number of British seamen shipped and discharged, which is said to have been due to the fact that several vessels arrived at Chittagong with time-expired men, who were shipped either in the colonies or ports abroad, and paid off on their arrival at Chittagong, where some of them re-engaged. During the year 119 ships were visited by the Shipping-Master, and the results are said to have been generally satisfactory. The health of the seamen in port is reported to have been fairly satisfactory. Two cases of suspected scurvy were brought to notice, and it was ascertained on enquiry that, if they were really cases of scurvy, they were not induced by the want of precautionary measures. Three deaths occurred at sea and two among the seamen in port. Ten cases of desertion (five Europeans and five natives) were reported. In none of them, however, did the deserter fall upon the hands of Government as a distressed seaman. The number of seamen convicted by the Magistrate during the year was 69 against 64 in the previous year. Most of the offences were, however, cognizable under Act I of 1859.

10. The transactions at the Orissa ports were few and unimportant. At False Point only one British seaman was discharged against 99 in the preceding year, the amount realised for his discharge being one rupee. One death by drowning occurred in the port. The man belonged to the French barque Neustrie, and it is believed that his wages and effects were made over by the master of the vessel to the French Consul at Calcutta. The provisions on board the British barque Victorine having been reported and found on investigation to be deficient, the Shipping-Master directed the supply of the necessary provisions. Six of the crew of the British barque Tewkesbury having refused duty were, on conviction before the Deputy Magistrate, sentenced by him to a term of rigorous imprisonment, and transferred to the Presidency Jail at Calcutta. At Chandbally only one British seaman was discharged, for which a fee of one rupee was realised. No transactions are reported to have taken place at Pooree.

ALEXANDER PEDLER,

Offg. Meteorologigical Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE PROVINCE OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF JULY 1886.

THE month of July in Bengal is one of the most important of the whole year from a meteorological point of view, for it is the first complete month of the actual monsoon period. It is generally the case that the complete establishment of the two great branches of the monsoon current does not take place till quite the end of June or beginning of July, and usually the rainfall in the Lower Provinces in July is heavier than during any other month of the year. Another reason why the meteorology of July is important, is that the distribution of the rains in July generally gives a rough indication of the probable distribution of the rainfall during the whole of the monsoon period.

The circumstances and conditions of the establishment of the south-west monsoon have been dealt with in previous reports, and it has been pointed out that, while during June the rainfall in Bengal is practically almost entirely brought up by the Bay of Bengal monsoon current, at the end of this month, or commencement of July, the conditions change, and the Bombay branch of the monsoon, blowing from the Indian Ocean and the Arabian Sea, advances slowly across Central India and the Central Provinces, and makes its influence felt in Bengal, and particularly in the western districts of the province. In its forward progress the Bombay current meets the Bay of Bengal monsoon current, and the interaction between the two currents gives rise to ascensional motion, which, according to well known physical laws, causes condensation of the aqueous vapour in the form of rain The Arabian Sea branch of the monsoon current therefore exercises a considerable influence on the rainfall in Behar, Chutia Nagpur and Bengal generally during July.

The Bay of Bengal current, if it alone prevailed, as is the case to a certain extent in June, would undoubtedly deposit the greater part of its vapour as rain in the neighbourhood of the sea coast, and along the areas nearest to the hills in the east and north of the province. The interaction between the two branches of the monsoon current is undoubtedly greatest in the western districts of the province, and therefore tends to give heavier rainfall to Chutia Nagpur, South Behar and West Orissa, or to those parts of the province which would receive the smallest amounts of rain from the direct action of the Bay of Bengal branch; that is, the combined effect of the two branches is to produce in normal years a fairly uniform rainfall over the whole Province. The amount of the interaction between the two branches of the monsoon current will depend on two things—first, on the relative strengths of the two currents; and second, on the position or direction in which the currents meet, for as the Bengal current is changed by the physical configuration of the country over which it is flowing from a south-westerly wind at the head of the Bay, first into a southerly, then into a south-easterly, and finally into an easterly current, it is evident that interaction with the westerly current will be more marked in Behar, where the Bay of Bengal current is easterly, than it will be in Orissa, where it is south-westerly. Thus in normal years the rainfall in the western parts of Behar and of Chutia Nagpur is practically entirely brought about by the interaction above described.

It must, however, be remembered that the south-west monsoon winds are by no means steady. They blow vigorously for a few days, giving more or less general rain, and then fall off in strength, when the rainfall becomes local. A fresh inrush of winds then occurs followed by general rainfall with subsequent lulls as just described. It is during these periods of comparative calm that conditions become favourable for the generation of small cyclonic storms, which in most cases are formed near the head of the Bay, though they also, but more rarely, may form over the land. With the advance of these cyclonic storms heavy rain generally occurs, and it depends to a great extent on the character of these small storms or atmospheric whirls, that is, whether they are of concentrated or of diffused nature, whether the rainfall which accompanies their advance falls only near the path of the storm, or whether it is widely diffused over a large portion of the province. With the advance of these storms strong humid winds generally set in over the whole province giving rise to general rain for some days. The precise conditions which determine the formation of these storms are, however, not clearly understood, and while in some years a constant succession of such storms will occur, in other years they may be almost absent, or at all events very few of any importance occur.

It will thus be seen that the meteorological conditions of July depend mainly on two points: first, on the character and intensity of the two monsoon currents from the Bay of Bengal and Arabian Sea; and second, on the occurrence, nature and paths of the small cyclonic storms which frequently occur in the rainy season.

Average distribution of the rainfall in July.—Two lines of maximum normal rainfall may be traced in Bengal during July. The first line is more or less parallel to the sea coast, and is caused by the humid winds from the Bay of Bengal. The second line of maximum rainfall is more or less parallel to the hill ranges in the east and north of the province, and this is accounted for by the well known fact that these ranges cause ascensional air motion of the Bay of Bengal current, and consequent precipitation of heavy rainfall. The line of 20 inches average rainfall in July runs through the Eastern Bengal districts at some little distance from the coast line, the distance from the coast increasing as it runs to the eastward; the second line of 20 inches average rainfall is found along the Darjeeling Hills, running almost east and west. The line of fifteen inches average rainfall starts from Saugor Island and runs in an easterly direction parallel to the first-mentioned line till near the Tipperah Hills, when it suddenly turns in a north-westerly direction, finally passing through Bogra and Dinagepore, where it is more or less parallel to the line of 20 inches in the Darjeeling Hills. The line of 12 inches average rainfall runs from Motihari in Northern Behar almost due south-east parallel to the 15 inch line to Rajmehal, and thence through Jessore along the borders of the Chutia Nagpur district into South Behar. Inside this area of average rainfall of less than twelve inches there are two areas of considerable interest. The first is the area of minimum rainfall of the month, which embraces the Jessore district, some parts of the Nuddea and Burdwan districts, as well as the Rajshahye district. This minimum fall is explained by the fact that this portion of Bengal is not influenced by either of the three causes which tend to produce increased rainfall: namely, it is not near the coast line when the humid winds expend their first force; it is not near any hill ranges where ascensional air motion will take place; and third, it is not under the influence of the interaction between the two branches of the monsoon current as previously described. The other area of interest is one of increased precipitation near Patna. The Chutia Nagpur Division receives during the month a normal rainfall of between twelve and fifteen inches, and this comparatively large amount is evidently produced by the interaction of the two branches of the monsoon current over this district.

Meteorological summary for the month.—In the report for the previous month an attempt had been made to estimate the strength of the monsoon current blowing from the Bay of Bengal, and the conclusion had been arrived at that it was nearly of normal character, except that perhaps the westerly element in it was rather stronger than usual. It was also noticed that quite at the close of June the westerly wind current due to the Bombay branch of the monsoon was commencing to make itself felt in Bengal. This advance of westerly winds took place rather earlier and rather more strongly than usual, and it tended to show that the Bombay branch of the monsoon current was of greater strength than in normal years, and this inference appears to have been again born out by the records of the present month. This comparatively greater strength of the Bombay branch of the current has caused the interaction between the wind current which is described under the normal meteorology of the month to develop to a greater extent than usual, and thus, as will be seen subsequently, the rainfall over a considerable portion of the western districts of the province has been considerably greater than the normal.

For the first eight days of July weather conditions were those of the full development of the rainy season. The two branches of the monsoon current affecting the province alternately strengthened and weakened, giving rise to frequent and rather copious rainfall over a large part of the province. On the 9th instant a slight disturbing element appeared in the course of the steady monsoon current in the form of a small barometric depression which was generated at the head of the Bay, and which therefore deflected the Bay of Bengal current towards the Arakan coast, and caused winds over South Bengal to be more or less cyclonic in direction. On this day the feeble depression was situated in the north-east corner of the Bay, the centre apparently being not very far to the west of Chittagong. On the following morning the depression had moved in a westerly direction, and its centre was near the Sunderbans to the east of Saugor Island, and on the morning of the 11th it had again moved in a westerly direction, and its centre was to the south-west of Saugor Island, and the slight disturbance was apparently moving towards Orissa. On the following day the depression appeared to be passing inland over Orissa, the lowest pressure on this day being registered at Cuttack, while on the 13th the position of the depression, if any such existed, was very badly defined. On 14th instant pressure again decreased off the Orissa coast, and on the morning of the 15th the feeble depression had again become well marked, and on the 16th it had slightly intensified, and had also become more extensive, though it was still somewhat irregularly defined. On this day the centre, so far as could be judged, was to the east of False Point and almost south of Saugor Island. On the 17th the small storm had distinctly intensified, but it had remained remarkably persistent in position, but, so far as the land observations showed, the centre had moved only slightly in a northerly direction and it was a little to the north of False Point. The small storm then passed inland, bringing heavy rain in its advance, and on the 18th the centre was not far from Cuttack, and on the following day it had advanced further inland, and was apparently approaching Sutna and Allahabad, but on the morning of the 20th it had filled up and disappeared. The formation and movement of this depression, or perhaps more correctly of the two depressions, though the first had never quite disappeared, was the principal feature in the meteorology of this part of the month, and to the existence of this feature the break in the rains which was reported over a large part of the province was due. During the whole of the eleven days of the existence of the depression winds were more or less cyclonic in direction, though light in force, in connection with the depression. Easterly and north-easterly winds prevailed over the whole province, almost without a break, and there was a distinct indraught towards the feeble storm. The monsoon winds, however, were blowing strongly in the rear of the depression, but their passage over Bengal was almost completely stopped or deflected by the existence of the depression, and thus it was only those areas which were immediately affected by the feeble storm, or the districts in the extreme south of the province and close to the sea, which received anything like general rainfall during its existence. Rainfall was thus fairly frequent though light in Orissa, and in the southern districts of South-West and East Bengal and Chutia Nagpur from about the 10th to the 20th instant, but rainfall was practically absent in other districts, except perhaps in the hill districts of North Bengal, for a large part of this interval.

After the advance and disappearance on the 19th instant of the feeble barometric depression which had existed so persistently at the head of the Bay, a fairly strong, monsoon current set in over the province, and this continued to blow until the close of the month. The principal feature of interest at the latter end of the month was the formation of an exceedingly feeble and slight barometric depression over part of Western Bengal and the eastern part of South Behar, round which there was the usual distinct, but feeble, cyclonic circulation of winds. This depression was well marked on the 26th instant, and its centre on this day was probably over the Sontnal Pergunnahs. The feeble storm then advanced in a north-westerly direction, and on the 27th its centre appeared to be between Gya and Bhagulpore. The depression, however, continued to be decidedly feeble, but somewhat extensive, and a considerable part of the western districts of the province was included in its area; on this day also winds were still more or less cyclonic in direction round it. On the 28th the barometric depression commenced to fill up, and on the 29th it had almost ceased to exist. Finally, on the 30th, the distribution of pressure became normal, the lowest pressures being reported from the western stations in Behar, and winds became southerly, south-easterly and easterly over the whole province. During the continuance of this depression, as usual rather heavy rain fell in the districts affected by it, and thus it will be seen that the conditions during the latter portion of the month were decidedly favourable to heavy rainfall over the western districts of the province generally, and particularly in South Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and parts of South-West and Central Bengal.

Pressure variations during the month have been considerable; for the first period of about nine days pressure was above the normal by about 0·056″. This was followed by a decided fall in the districts affected by the depression, and for the next period, 9th to the 16th, pressure was about 0·06″ below the normal at False Point and above it elsewhere. A further fall of pressure took place during the following week, and pressure became 0·077″ below the normal for the period 16th to the 23rd, while in the last week pressure had again become above the normal over a large area, though over the remainder of the province it was below it. Thus the mean pressure for the whole province for the month was about normal, and the average variation of the whole province for July is only an excess of 0·005″.

The variations of temperature have to a great extent followed the variations of rainfall, and thus in the early part of the month temperature was below the normal, while rainfall was in excess; in the middle of the month when rainfall became scanty, temperature rose slightly and became above the normal, and finally, with the setting in of heavy rainfall towards the close of the month, temperature again fell distinctly below the normal. For the whole month the mean temperature of the province has not been very far removed from the normal, and the average variation is a defect of only about a tenth of a degree

Rainfall—During July has been very decidedly above the normal over the greater part of the province. Orissa and Chutia Nagpur have received falls only slightly below the normal, and North Bengal a fall slightly above it. The falls in South-West Bengal and East Bengal and in South Behar have been considerably above the normal, while in North Behar the rainfall has been excessive.

The comparison of the actual rainfall of the various great divisions of the province during July with the normal is most accurately shown in the form of a percentage. The figures representing the rainfall for the month, calculated in this way, are included in the table below under the heading of July. This table really gives a condensed summary of the rainfall statistics of the present year up to date for each meteorological division, the first seven columns giving the actual rainfalls in each division in each month expressed as a percentage of the normal, while the eighth column of figures shows the actual rainfall for the first seven months of the year expressed as a percentage of the normal for the period; the figure 100 will therefore in this table represent a normal rainfall, a number larger than 100 an excess fall, and so on :—

That is to say, the rainfall during July in the only two districts in which the fall was defective was only 13 and 17 per cent. respectively below the normal, while the whole province showed an excess fall of 16 per cent., and in the case of North Behar the excess fall amounted to no less than 6·56 inches of rain or to 54 per cent. of the normal fall. Up to the present date also it will be seen that, except in North Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, all districts have during this year received rainfalls in excess of the normal. The defect in North Bengal is equal to 11 per cent., and in Chutia Nagpur to per cent of the normal fall, and for the whole province the rainfall for the year has been in excess of the normal by six per cent.

The normal distribution of rainfall for July has already been described, but the actual fall for the month under review has been decidedly more complicated. These are as usual the centres of heavy rainfall first in South-East Bengal where Cox's Bazar reports 39·37 inches and Fenny 38·64 inches, and second the centre of heavy rainfall in the Darjeeling Hills, where Buxa reports 57·07 inches, and Julpigoree 36·58 inches, but in the present month, in addition to these two, there is a centre of particularly heavy rainfall in Behar, where Dinapur reports 25·96 inches, Chupra 25·62 inches and Gopalgunge (Sarun district) 22·35 inches, and a further centre of very heavy rainfall in Western Bengal, where Ranigunge reports 31·45 inches, Hitampur (Beerbhoom district) 27·38 inches and Bolpur 21·57 inches. This of course complicates the usual distribution of rainfall, and renders it impossible to give any simple description of the amounts which have been received in different districts, beyond the very general statement that from the centres of very heavy rainfall above described, the falls gradually diminish gradually till a fall of only 6·41 inches is reported at Palamow, one of 8·13 inches at Subarnakhally in the Mymensingh district, and one of 8·53 inches at Khordah in the Pooree district.

When the observations over the whole province are compared with the normal fall, and the differences from the normal are charted, it is seen that the distribution is comparatively simple. Practically the whole of the northern districts, except near the Darjeeling Hills, have received an excess fall. Also a broad band of excess rainfall runs through the centre of the province, starting in the south and including the area from the Midnapur to the Khoolna districts, it runs nearly in a northerly direction till it joins the band of excess rainfall in the north of the province. Again, the extreme south-eastern districts of the province and a portion of the sea coast of Orissa have received excess rainfall. On the other hand, Chutia Nagpur and almost the whole of Orissa are areas of defective fall, the defect ranging from very small amounts up to one of 5·8 inches at Palamow; the north-eastern districts of the province also show a defective fall, the defect including the greater part of the following districts:—Cooch Behar, Rungpore, Dinagepore, Rajshahye, Bogra, Pubna, and Mymensingh, while finally there is another small area of defective fall including the greater part of the Backergunge and part of the Chittagong districts. As a general rule the defective falls do not range higher than up to about 3 inches, but, as mentioned before, Palamow shows a defect of 5·81 inches; also Patuakhally shows a defect of 6·12 inches, and Bogra one of 5·84 inches. On the other hand the amounts of the excess rainfall are in many instances very large. Thus at Raneegunge the excess fall recorded was 17·68 inches, at Dinapore it was 14·45 inches, at Chupra 14·90 inches. At Arrareah in the Purneah district the excess fall has been 13·96 inches, and at Fenny in the Noakhally district the excess was again 14·98 inches. Besides these very large excess falls there are numerous stations which have received amounts in excess varying from 5 to 10 inches, and at least one-half or perhaps even a larger proportion of the areas described above as having received excess rainfall, have received falls more than five inches in excess of the normal amounts.

In the above description of the rainfall distribution it will be noticed that some particularly heavy falls have been reported at several stations in the province during the month, the falls ranging from 57·07 inches at Buxa to 6·41 inches at Palamow. In addition to these particularly heavy falls for the month there have been some extraordinarily heavy falls on particular days, and perhaps the most noticeable of these have been a fall of 16·89 inches registered at Raneegunge on the 26th instant, and one of 15·32 inches at Hetampore on the 25th instant. Rainfalls at various stations in excess of five inches on particular days have in fact been rather numerous during the month.

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and the normal rainfall of the month of July in all districts of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-recording stations in each district, due allowance or weight being given for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the weekly and monthly meteorological tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 15 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfalls of the month at the reporting stations in each district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage. The fourth column gives the same information as the third column in a slightly different form. It states as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied in excess or defect from the normal rainfall, and is hence the difference between the numbers in the third column and 100 :—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of former years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0°·6 higher; and, finally, the thermometer, which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

* Means for six days.

Explanation.—summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the same period for the past ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of rainy days is the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional stations for the period in question during the past ten years. stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

CALCUTTA the 10th August 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 6TH OF AUGUST 1886.

At the close of the previous week it was stated that ordinary monsoon conditions obtained over the whole province, and these have continued in rather a pronounced form throughout the whole of the present week. There has perhaps been a rather unusual prominence of westerly and south-westerly winds almost throughout the week, for with the exception of Wednesday, the 4th instant, when a southerly wind current was reported over nearly the whole of the province, on every other day a strong south-westerly and westerly wind has blown at all stations except at those in the extreme east and north of the province. With the steady monsoon current thus blowing over the province rain has been very general and copious, and most stations have received rain on five or six days of the week, and on most days rainfall was fairly heavy. From about the middle of the week, and particularly towards its close, rainfall commenced to fall off both in frequency and quantity in Orissa, and to a certain extent in Chutia Nagpur and Behar, but nothing which was really equivalent to a break in the rains was established In fact, owing to the heaviness of the rainfall at the commencement of the week, and notwithstanding the decrease just alluded to, the greater part of the province has received a fall rather largely in excess of the normal, and the only district which records a distinctly defective fall is Orissa.

The mean pressure over the province during the previous week was almost precisely normal, but the changes during the present week have tended to establish a very considerable excess pressure, for on about five days out of the seven pressure has been increasing, and on only two days was anything like a general or considerable fall reported. For the present week therefore the mean pressure for the whole province has been 0·07″ in excess of the normal, while the variations at individual stations are from an excess of 0·102″ at Calcutta to one of 0·039″ at Gya.

Owing to the heavy and continuous rainfall during the week temperature changes have generally been towards a slight decrease, and thus, while in the previous week the mean temperature of the whole province was 0·6° below the normal, the defect during the present week has increased to 1·2°. In Orissa, owing to the scanty rainfall, temperature has now become 0·8° above the normal for the week, but in all other districts temperature is in defect. In South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur the defects are only small, and equal 0·1° and 0·5° respectively, but in East Bengal and North Behar the defect is about 2°, and in South Behar it is no less than 3·4°.

Rainfall, as stated before, has been frequent and copious in most districts. The average rainfall in North Behar has been 7·13 inches falling on an average of 5 5 days. This fall, compared with the normal, gives a percentage of 329. North Bengal has received an average fall of 6 67 inches of rain on 6·3 days, and this compared with the normal gives 255 per cent. In East Bengal the average rainfall over the whole district gives a rainfall of 7 80 inches on 6·5 days, and this again compared with the normal gives a percentage of 189. In South-Behar the average rainfall has been 4·86 inches on 5 9 days, and the percentage of the normal fall is 191. In South-West Bengal 4·28 inches of rain are reported on 5·4 days, which equals 123 per cent. of the normal. The average rainfall in Chutia Nagpur has only been 3·17 inches falling on 5·6 days, which, compared with the normal, gives a percentage of 86; and finally in Orissa the average rainfall has only equalled 2·00 inches on 3·6 days, which is equivalent to 62 per cent. of the normal fall for the week. Taking these districts to have an equal value, the rainfall of the whole province for the entire week has been 176 per cent. of the normal.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 6th of August 1886:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four fee above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The above abstract shows that out of the 13 heads under which the total traffic of the line is classed, there is an increase under 9 and decrease under 4 heads in comparison with last May's working results. The total weight lifted during the month under notice is 30,073·39 tons against 17,091·88 tons carried during the corresponding period of 1885, being an increase of 75 per cent.

Increases.

Food-grains ... 11,580·27 tons.
Heavy despatches of paddy and rice have as before contributed to this increase.

Ginger ... 251·18 tons.
Increase due to a good crop and fair demand.

Gunny-bags ... 121·27 tons.
After many months of depression, the traffic in this article appears to be reviving.

Miscellaneous ... 1,533·04 tons.
This traffic is subject to fluctuations which it is impossible to trace with accuracy, the increase is apparently due to several heavy consignments of machinery and garden stores which passed during the month.

Piece-goods ... 26·93 tons.
This represents an increase of 5 per cent compared with the corresponding period of 1885.

Railway material ... 707·02 tons.
Locomotive coal principally contributes to this increase.

Salt ... 159·13 tons.
The traffic under this head shows an increase of 7 per cent.

Sugar ... 4·04 tons.
The increase is apparently due to a decline in prices in the Calcutta market.

Tea ... 19·40 tons.
Consignments of the new crop are commencing to come forward.

Decreases.

Ale ... 4·52 tons.
This traffic is chiefly composed of commissariat beer for the troops in Darjeeling and is dependent on the number stationed there.

Jute ... 789·66 tons.
There is little or no demand for export, and the heavy despatches made for some time past will account for the present falling off.

Seeds ... 253·82 tons.
Mustard seed, which principally contributes to this traffic, has not, it appears, yielded a fair crop this year.

Tobacco ... 372·77 tons.
Decrease is attributed to a large quantity of this article being sent by boat from the neighbourhood of Siliguri station.

The rule shall not interfere with the discretion of the Court under section 289 of the Procedure Code in directing, whenever it thinks fit, a similar publication of the intended sale of any other property or properties attached in execution of a decree.

6. Subject to the proviso in section 269 of the Code of Civil Procedure, sales of property in execution of decrees in the several Courts of each district (not being Courts of Small Causes), shall be held and commence at a certain day in each month, such day to be fixed by the District Judge or other principal Judge in the district, as regards his own Court and all other Courts sitting at the same place as his own; but as regards subordinate Courts sitting at other places within his district, he shall fix the day in consultation with the Judges of those Courts: Provided that where two or more of such Courts are stationed in the same place, the District Judge may fix the time for sales in consultation with only one of them.

7. All property, except property of the nature specified in the proviso to section 269, Code of Civil Procedure, or in Rule 11, to be sold at each place of sale, shall be entered in lists for each place, the lists of moveable and immoveable properties being distinct. The lists shall be so prepared as to contain in regular order each item of property to be sold in execution of the decrees of each Court severally. Such lists shall be stuck up in the Courts where the sales are to be held, in the case of moveables not less than 7 days, and in the case of immoveables not less than 15 days, before the date fixed for the commencement of each set of sales.

8. At the stated hour upon each fixed date, the sales shall be commenced, and shall be carried on in the order stated in the lists abovementioned. No sale shall continue after sunset; but the sales shall be held from day to day, except when the Court is closed and until the lists are finished: Provided that this rule shall not interfere with the adjournment of any particular sale according to law.

9. The same days shall not ordinarily be fixed for the sale of moveable and of immoveable property.

10. Except as regards property of the kind mentioned in the next succeeding rule, sales in execution of decrees for all Courts sitting in Sudder stations shall be held in the Court of the District Judge or other chief judicial officer. If, in other places, there are two or more subordinate Courts, all the sales in that place shall be held in such one of the Courts as may be selected by the District Judge. Where there is only one Court, the sales shall be held in that Court: Provided that the Court executing a decree may, if it see fit, for reasons to be specified in writing, direct, in the interest of the parties, that the sale be held at any other time and place within its jurisdiction, and, when acting under this last-mentioned proviso, shall, except for good reason to the contrary, give the preference as regards choice of time and place to the wishes of the judgment-debtor.

11. All sales of live-stock, agricultural produce, articles of local manufacture, and of other things commonly sold at country markets, shall, unless the Court otherwise direct, be held at such market in the neighbourhood of the place where the goods were attached, as may appear likely to be for the greatest advantage of the debtor, regard being had to the prospect of good prices and to the saving of expense in conveyance and carriage.

CALCUTTA SMALL CAUSE COURT.

NOTICE.

IN accordance with suggestions contained in a report to the High Court, signed by Mr. Justice Wilson and Mr. Justice Trevelyan, on their inspection of the Calcutta Small Cause Court, a new system will, on and after the 28th October 1886, be tried for the purpose of revising the list of cases which come daily into the court.

All summons cases will, on the returnable date of the summons, come before one only of the Judges, who will revise the whole list of the court for each day.

He will go through the list, enter "compromises," make decrees in cases in which the defendant does not appear, give fresh summonses in cases where the summons has not been served, grant necessary postponements, ascertain what causes are defended, and dispose of any cases which, in his judgment, can be disposed of summarily.

This would leave the whole time of the other Judges free for the trial of defended causes The defended causes will be assigned by the Judge revising the list to the lists of the different Judges on the earliest possible days, and will be adjourned by him to those days. The Judge revising the list will have before him the list of each Judge for each day, so far as already filled up, and will arrange that there should always be a sufficient number of cases, say 25 or 30, on each Judge's list. Each of the other Judges will thus have each day his list of defended cases provided for him. When a second summons has been granted, the case will, on the new return day, come again before the Judge who revises the list for that day.

If under this system a Judge should at any time find his list becoming clogged, he will communicate with the revising Judge, and inform the latter that he must have a day or days left clear to enable him to pull up. Thus if on the first of the month a Judge finds that his lists were getting blocked, and that it will take a day to get them clear, he will tell the revising Judge that this is the case. The latter, when revising the lists of the Judge in question, may see that they are already filled, say up to the 9th: he will leave the 10th blank. The Judge who had found himself blocked, knowing that the 10th would be a clear day, will use his discretion: he will either go on as usual up to the 10th, trusting to clear himself on that day, or will adjourn a sufficient number of cases to that day to enable him to take the other cases as nearly as possible on their proper dates.

ADJOURNMENTS.

No "costs of the day" will be allowed on adjournments.

Nor will adjournments be allowed, even by consent, except upon good cause shown.

By order of the Court,

COURT OF SMALL CAUSES OF CALCUTTA, The 28th July 1886. C. Y. C. BOLST, Clerk of the Court.

NOTIFICATION BY THE ACCOUNTANT-GENERAL, BENGAL.

STOCK CERTIFICATES.

As it does not appear to be generally known that Government Promissory Notes can be readily converted into Stock Certificates and re-converted into Promissory Notes at the option of the holders, and that Stock Certificate-holders enjoy certain special advantages, the attention of holders of Government Securities is drawn to the following particulars:—

1. Government Promissory Notes can be converted into Stock Certificates and re-converted into Promissory Notes at any time at the option of the holder.

2. The holders of Stock Certificates are not required to present them in person or by agent when the interest becomes due. On application made, interest will be paid to Stock Certificate-holders by warrants on any Government Treasury; which warrants will be sent by post, on the day the interest falls due, to the Stock Certificate-holders direct or through the Treasury Officer, as they may desire.

3. Stock Certificates are not negotiable by endorsement, and are consequently of no value in the hands of a wrongful holder, and the risks arising from the possession of, or repeated transmission of, negotiable Securities, are thereby avoided.

4. In the event of the loss of a Stock Certificate by theft, fire, &c., a fresh Certificate will issue on satisfactory evidence of loss.

Note.—Further particulars can be obtained on reference to the Public Debt Offices, Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay.

The following Notification is therefore published :—

His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council has resolved to borrow one hundred and twenty lakhs of Rupees for the public service in the following manner.

2. Promissory Notes will be issued for the said amount in Form A annexed to this Notification, being the form of the notes of The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1842-43, of which Loan the notes to be now issued will form a part. All the conditions which apply to notes of The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1842-43 will apply to the notes to be now issued.

3. Tenders for the whole or any part of the said amount of R1,20,00,000 will be received by the Comptroller General from this date to noon of Friday, the tenth of September next. Tenders must be in sums of 500 Rupees or multiples of 500 Rupees.

4. Each tender must be addressed, in the form annexed to this Notification, to the Comptroller General, Calcutta, and enclosed in a closed cover superscribed "Tender for the Four Per Cent. Loan.". If the tenderer is not resident in India, he must name an agent resident in India to whom a letter of allotment may be issued if any part of the loan is allotted to such tenderer.[1]

(a) Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or one of their Branches, or from an officer in charge of some Public Treasury, or by a cheque drawn in favour of the Comptroller General on a Bank in Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, or in favour of the Accountant General, Bombay, on a Bank in Bombay in respect of tenders received by him, or by[2] Government pro-

[1] Tenders made in accordance with these instructions will also be received by the Accountant General, Bombay, on account of the Comptroller General, Calcutta, on the 8th and 9th and up to 11 o'clock local time (corresponding with 12 o'clock in Calcutta) on the 10th September, provided that—

(a) they are delivered personally or by clerk or messenger at his office (where a receipt will be given for them);
(b) they are made on printed forms to be obtained at his office or at the Bank of Bombay;
(c) each tender is for not less than R10,000;
(d) that the deposit is either a promissory note, or a cheque on a Bank in Bombay;
(e) that the amount of the tender is made payable either in Bombay or in Calcutta; and he will return deposits on non-accepted tenders and will issue allotment-certificates so far as the tenders are payable in Bombay.

[2] It is particularly requested that such promissory notes may not be endorsed to the Comptroller General.

missory notes standing in the name of or endorsed to the tenderer or the person making the deposit, for not less than one-hundredth, or, if the tender be for less than Five Lakhs of Rupees, then for not less than one-fiftieth, part of the tender.

(b) Deposits, not being promissory notes, will, in the case of accepted tenders, be credited proportionally in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender, and will bear interest for the purpose of clause 14 below from the date of the opening of tenders. If any allotment-certificate is not fully taken up, the deposit credited in respect of it will be forfeited.

(c) Promissory notes deposited in respect of any accepted tender will be held until all the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender are paid up, and will, if the allotment-certificates are not fully taken up, be appropriated by the Government and cancelled.

5. The rate at which a tender is made must not contain a fraction of an anna: if a rate containing a fraction of an anna is inserted in any tender, such fraction will be struck out and the tender treated as if the rate did not contain such fraction of an anna.

6. The rate at which each tender is made must be specified in rupees or rupees and annas: a tender in which no rate is thus specified, but a subscription is offered in some other terms, as, for example, at the recorded minimum, or at some specified percentage in addition to the recorded minimum, or at the average of the accepted tenders, will be rejected as null and void.

7. The minimum rate at which tenders will be accepted will be recorded under the signature of the Comptroller General, and, before the tenders are opened, placed upon the table in a sealed envelope, but will not be declared unless some tender is rejected only because it is below the recorded minimum.

8. Tenders will be opened publicly by the Comptroller General at the Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, at noon (Calcutta time) on Friday, the 10th September next, and those received under the terms of the foot-note under clause 4 will be similarly opened by the Accountant General, Bombay, at 11 o'clock (Bombay time) on the same day; but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in clause 10.

9. Tenders at the recorded minimum rate, and at rates above the recorded minimum rate, will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the highest rate; the amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate, in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders: provided that no allotment will be issued if the amount distributable on any tender is less than ₹350.

10. To each tenderer (or to his agent) whose tender is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued by the Comptroller General[1] as soon as possible after the 10th September; and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted, for general information, at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay.

11. If the allotment made on any tender is less than ₹3,000, then the whole of the allotment-certificates (after credit of the deposit under clause 4 (b)) will be made payable upon the 1st November.

Otherwise the whole amount of each allotment will be divided into three instalments as follows:—

Instalment I—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 24th September.

Instalment II—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 1st November.

Instalment III—The balance payable upon the 29th November: and allotment-certificates will be issued for each instalment separately.

But the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificates.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of ₹500.

12. Any allotment-certificate will, on application to the Comptroller General, be exchanged for an equivalent amount of allotment-certificates of smaller denominations, provided that if any payment (beyond the deposit) is recorded upon the cancelled certificate, it can be taken against, and recorded upon, only one of the certificates issued in exchange.

[1] For tenders received by the Accountant General, Bombay, and payable at Bombay, the Accountant General, Bombay, will issue the allotment-certificates.

13. Payment of any allotment-certificate may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or in any Branch of these Banks, or into any Public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the tender in respect of which it was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, or their Branches or by the officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made, by enfacement upon the relative certificate.

14. (a) When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, promissory notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than ₹500), bearing interest from 1st February 1887, and he will also receive interest at 4 per cent. per annum from the dates on which he may have made payment till the last day of January 1887.

(b) Or he may, at his option, by paying interest at the said rate from 1st August 1886, to the dates on which he may have made payment, obtain promissory notes as above, bearing interest from 1st August 1886.

15. The holder of a paid-up allotment-certificate may also, on special application, obtain, on adjustment of interest on paid up instalments so that the interest on the note issued may run from November 1st, 1886, promissory notes with coupons attached, or stock certificates (Form B) with coupons attached, and payable to bearer, in accordance with the Loan Notification of this Department, dated 27th June 1881 (i.e., The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1881, forming part of The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1st May 1865). In such cases the first coupon issued will be that which falls due on 1st May 1887.

Dec., 25th	25	8vo ...	1st ...	500	Printed	1 0 0	Dwaraka Nath Sen, Syama-Charan De's Street, Calcutta.	By Normapathy is probably meant a system of treatment in which medicines 'produce in reality all the characteristic signs of diseases which expedite and complete their course.' The writer seems to be of opinion that no disease can be cured until it has run its course and all its symptoms have been developed. The object of medical treatment should be therefore to assist in the full development of diseases and effect their cure after the appearance of their last symptoms.	1049

WHEAT CULTIVATION AND TRADE IN BENGAL.

No. 1899—304Agri., dated Calcutta, the 10th August 1886.

From—P. NOLAN, Esq., Offg. Secy. to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Dept.,
To—The Director of the Agricultural Department, Bengal.

I AM directed to express the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor for the careful report on the cultivation of wheat in these provinces, contained in your letter No. 391T., dated 7th July 1886.

The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to observe, from the correspondence subsequently forwarded under cover of your letter No. 692, dated 27th July 1886, that the Chamber of Commerce has declined to re-open the question of an alteration in the standard of refraction for wheat. Sir Rivers Thompson trusts, however, that if the prospects of the trade improve it may be possible for the Chamber to take action in this important matter, and in this hope has again addressed that body on the subject.

2. The establishment of warehouses for cleaning and grading grain is a matter which should be left to private agency, and the Lieutenant-Governor concurs in the opinion expressed by you and the majority of the officers consulted on the subject that Government interference in this respect is clearly undesirable.

3. With reference to the preparation of forecasts of the wheat crop, I am to state that the Lieutenant-Governor approves of your proposal being carried out on the system followed in the case of jute.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the evidence that your report affords of the attention paid in the district of Shahabad, since the Doomraon exhibition of 1885, to the improvement of the selection of seeds for wheat, as well as to agricultural improvements generally. If other landed proprietors in Bengal would take the intelligent interest which the Maharajah of Doomraon has shown in Shahabad to promote agricultural research and improvement, a great benefit would result to the country.

No. 391T., dated Darjeeling, the 7th July 1886.

From—M FINUCANE, Esq., C.S., Director of the Agricultural Department in Bengal,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 1439—43Agri., dated 25th January, forwarding papers on the subject of the wheat trade in India, and inviting attention to certain points connected with the cultivation of and trade in that article, on which report was called for. These points were—

(1*st*)—The necessity of obtaining clean grain for export

(2*nd*)—The improvement of the species grown, with special reference to the encouragement of the growth of valuable white wheat on suitable soils, and the effect of different soils in changing the colour of the grain.

(3*rd* —The provision of facilities for storing wheat near railway stations in warehouses, where, as proposed by Messrs. Reinhold Brothers, grain might be received, cleaned, and graded on the American system.

(4*th*)—The preparation of forecasts and dissemination of such information on the subject as may be of practical use to the public.

2. On receipt of your letter under acknowledgment, a communication of which a copy is annexed, was addressed to the agricultural officers at Patna, Bhagulpore, and Burdwan, in which these points were discussed, and it was requested that further information on the subject should, if possible, be furnished. The Commissioners of divisions were separately asked by Government to report on the question through me. All the reports of the officers consulted have now been received and are submitted with this letter.

3. Regarding the question of obtaining clean grain for export, the following remarks were made in my letter of the 2nd September—

"The impure condition of Indian as compared with the wheat of other countries is attributed to one or more of the three following causes :—

1*st*.—The mixture of other grains due to the practice of growing two or more crops on the same land at the same time.

2*nd*.—Imperfect arrangements for winnowing the grain and removal of extraneous matter.

3*rd*.—Deliberate adulteration by traders, brokers, or others.

"As regards the first of the causes enumerated above, it will be observed that the Bengal Government, in circulating among Commissioners the letter from the Government of India, No. 57A, dated 10th August 1883, with Mr. Bolton's circular No. 71—R, dated 4th September 1883, desired these officers to issue instructions to Collectors of wheat-producing districts in accordance with the wishes of the Government of India, to impress on wheat-growers the importance of preventing the admixture of other grains with wheat, and at the same time called upon them to report the action which Collectors might take in the matter. The Commissioners generally reported, in reply, that little could be done, but added that all that was possible would be done in making known to the cultivators the importance of keeping their wheat free from foreign substances. The Assistant Commissioner of Palamow went further than this, and promised that he would endeavour to persuade cultivators to sow their wheat by itself in the course of his next cold weather tour; while the Commissioner of Patna submitted for the approval of Government a draft circular which he proposed to issue to zemindars, patwaries and others, pointing out to them the disadvantage of growing wheat in the same fields as other grains. Attention has, however, been called since that time to the circumstance that the cultivator in growing oilseeds or other crops with wheat, selects such crops as are likely to succeed in a drought when wheat fails, and thus protects himself against the risks of an unfavourable season. Bengal wheat contains a large admixture of linseed, stones and mud. The standard of refraction in Calcutta being 5 per cent., any refraction there may be over and above this standard is deducted from the value of the parcel. If, for example, the refraction is 8 per cent., a deduction is made of 3 per cent, but it is to be remembered, on the other hand, that as 5 per cent. is ordinarily deducted, it is doubtful whether cultivators would, under existing arrangements, derive any benefit from the production of entirely clean grain or grain in which there may be less than 5 per cent. of foreign matter. It is found in the trade that mud can be got rid of, but there is no process known by which linseed or barley can be separated from the wheat, and hence it happens that parcels containing an admixture of mud sell better in the London market than parcels containing an equal weight of admixture of other grains. It is to avoid this admixture that merchants agitate against the simultaneous growth of two or more crops with wheat in the same field.

"The advantage of producing clean wheat would, as a matter of course, be represented by the smaller refraction of say 2 per cent. over and above the minimum of 5, which might be charged on pure wheat if it could be generally procured; but it is yet to be shown that any appreciable part of this advantage would reach the cultivator as long as a uniform minimum standard of refraction is adopted by the exporters in Calcutta. That, then, the growth of other crops simultaneously with wheat in the same fields is, under all circumstances, to be deprecated, does not appear to be a conclusion so obviously certain a priori, or so firmly established by the results of experience, as to warrant, for the present at all events, the active interference of Government officers in discountenancing the practice. In the present state of our knowledge on the subject, all that it seems desirable to do, is to point out to the cultivator the advantages, such as they are, of producing clean wheat, and of separating the hard and soft and the white and red grains in the selection of seed and to leave it to him to determine whether the reasons for growing a mixed crop are outweighed by the reasons for growing it alone. The question, however, is one which demands further enquiry, and I request that you will give it your attention and report upon it in due time."

4. On the first of the causes enumerated above, to which the impurity of Indian wheat was attributed, namely, the admixture of other grains, due to the practice of growing other crops on the same land at the same time, the reports now received show that there is unanimity of opinion to the effect that Government should not interfere with a view to discourage the growth of other crops with wheat. Cultivators are not indifferent to the advantages of producing clean grain, but they prefer to grow mixed crops with a view to secure a better outturn, and at the same time to guard against the risk of failure, to which they would be liable by growing an unmixed crop. The advantage from the cultivator's point of view of sowing wheat alone is not clear, for by growing a double crop he gets a chance of securing something if the wheat fails; and, moreover, when a deep-rooted crop like wheat is grown with a surface feeder like barley, each stalk of wheat has a larger area for its roots, and the grains are likely to be fuller and heavier than if only wheat were sown. For these reasons it would appear that the active interference of Government officers with a view to discountenance the practice of growing other crops simultaneously with wheat is not warranted. All that officials can safely do in this direction is to circulate information showing the prices which may be realised in Calcutta for entirely clean and for impure grain respectively, leaving it to cultivators themselves to determine whether the reasons in favour of growing a mixed crop outweigh those in favour of growing wheat alone. The strength and force of these reasons will, as shown latter on, entirely depend on the efficacy of any action which the Chamber of Commerce may find it possible to take towards altering the present system, under which a uniform minimum standard of refraction is adopted by the exporters in Calcutta.

5. With regard to the third cause given for the impurity of Indian wheat, namely, deliberate adulteration on the part of middlemen or cultivators by admixture of dirt, an opinion was expressed in my letter of September 2nd, on which comment was invited from the Chamber of Commerce, to the effect that the real reason why Indian wheat is adulterated by admixture of foreign substances lies, not in defectiveness of winnowing arrangements, but in the fact that it is not to the cultivator's interest to produce entirely clean grain, for so long as a minimum of 5 per cent. refraction is deducted by exporters in Calcutta, it is evident that it is the interest of the producer to mix dirt with the grain to that extent at least. It was suggested that the remedy therefore lies, not in the introduction of better winnowing arrangements, so much as in the alteration of the present system of deductions for refraction. A very remarkable confirmation of this view is afforded by Mr. Allen's interesting report, which I quote at length on this point:—

"Similar arguments," he says, "apply to adulteration of mud, &c. These, I believe, the ryot does not add wilfully, because the bepari or petty trader to whom he sells would detect them in his small consignment and pay him an inferior price. On the other hand, the petty trader does not insist on cleaned grain, for he will not himself sell grain containing less than 5 per cent. of impurities, which, if deficient, he will add; for so long as the Calcutta merchants accept 5 per cent. as refraction, it would not pay the bepari to sell grain with only one or two per cent. of adulteration. This brings me to the real point of the whole question. It is purely a case of supply and demand. If the Calcutta merchants insisted on cleaned grain, they would get it. They do insist on clean samples in the case of linseed, and the result is that linseed is cleaned by the actual cultivator before being sold to the petty dealers. The same result would, I believe, follow in the case of wheat. As matters now stand, wheat in Patna is freely adulterated. Ralli Brothers in Patna City deal only with the petty dealers, and these refuse to give any guarantee with the wheat sold. Each lot has to be tested both for impurities and for the percentage of red grain before the price is fixed. If the samples tested happen to be superior to the bulk, the bepari gains. If they should be inferior, the bepari can refuse to deal, and so he cannot lose either way. The cultivators never get a fair price, for the brokers and the aratdars have each to get their commissions on each transaction between the bepari and Ralli Brothers In some marts where the grain comes chiefly from the neighbourhood it might be possible for Ralli Brothers to deal directly with the actual cultivators; but in Patna, where the grain comes largely from Gorakpore and Fyzabad, this is impossible, and the agent for Ralli Brothers is compelled to deal with the petty dealers, whose interest it is to cheat him if they possibly can.

"Since writing the above, I have had a remarkable confirmation of these views from the Manager of the Dumraon Raj, the Hon'ble Jai Prokash Lall. The statements he made were so significant that I took a note of them at the time, and at the same time informed him that I should embody them in this report. The Manager said that about two years ago, when the prospects of the wheat trade were apparently good, he seriously thought of cultivating wheat on a large scale. He estimated that on the Raja's estates there were 300,000 acres of land capable of growing wheat, and he proposed commencing operations with a capital of two lakhs. His idea was to induce the ryots to grow wheat alone by means of advances in coin and seed, and he intended purchasing machinery such as he had seen at the Calcutta Exhibition for cleaning the grain. All that he now required was a remunerative market. Last year, when in Calcutta on Council business, he called at the office of Ralli Brothers, and after telling them his plans asked what price they would give for clean grain. Ralli Brothers informed him that owing to the action of the merchants in England they could not afford to pay more for a clean sample than they now did for grain with 5 per cent. refraction. Upon hearing this the Manager abandoned the idea of growing and cleaning wheat on a large scale. It is difficult to overrate the significance of this anecdote, which appears to prove conclusively that so long as merchants will not pay a higher price for clean grain it is useless for Government to think of inducing cultivators to change their present practice.

"I then asked the Manager about wilful adulteration He said that he had a golah at Itari, near Buxar, from which he used to sell wheat on rather a large scale to the Agent of Ralli Brothers at Buxar. The wheat as he got it did not contain 5 per cent. of foreign matter. Accordingly, his servants were directed to mix two maunds of earth with every 100 maunds of grain, so as to bring the adulteration up to the required standard. This earth was treated with water and specially prepared for the purposes of adulteration. The suggestion for adulterating the grain in this way came, as the Manager says, from the employés of Ralli Brothers. This fully bears out what Major Boileau says, that grain-dealers in Dinapore wilfully adulterate their grain, adding about two maunds and thirty seers of dry clay, bhusee and other grains to every hundred maunds of wheat. Mr. T Gibbon, C.I E., the Manager of the Bettiah Raj, told me that wilful adulteration was practised by the petty dealers in Chumparun, and Mr. Carnduff, writing from Hajipore, a large grain mart, says:—'In the hands of the middlemen, when the grain is lodged in their golahs, such grains as akla pipra are, I understand, intentionally added with a view to adulteration.' Mr. Jenkins from Buxar, who has clearly paid a good deal of attention to the subject, is of the same opinion.

"Messrs. Mylne and Thompson have pointed out to me that the adulteration of gur is analogous to the adulteration of wheat. When their sugar-mills were first introduced they were valued by the purchasers on account of their saving labour, and not because they turned out a cleaner article. Even now the bunniahs in Jagdispore refuse to pay a higher price for gur free from adulteration, and though the cultivators can produce clean gur, and will do so if required, it does not pay them to clean the gur they sell in open market. There is now, however, a tendency among European firms to pay a higher price for purer gur; similarly, if the merchants would reduce their standard of refraction, they would get cleaner samples of wheat. This question is treated exhaustively in the report from Shahabad, and it is so difficult to make extracts without omitting something of interest that I venture to suggest that the whole report be sent in original. The possibility of cleaning grain with the ordinary tray-shaped fan (soop) is pointed out by the Collector of Sarun, and in the report from the Patna district."

6. As regards, then, the alleged imperfection of present arrangements for winnowing, it will thus be seen that the mixture of dust from the threshing-floor forms a very small portion of the impurities found in Indian grain, and that the present arrangements for winnowing are as good as can be hoped for under present conditions. It will of course be desirable to effect improvements in winnowing and threshing, should any be found possible; but the root of the evil complained of can only be reached by the abolition of the system of deducting a minimum refraction of 5 per cent., a remedy which lies in the hands of the merchants themselves. The facts mentioned by the Manager of the Dumraon Raj show conclusively that clean grain will be forthcoming if the merchants pay for it, and that it will not be forthcoming, however perfect the winnowing and threshing arrangements may be, so long as a minimum of 5 per cent. is deducted for impurities, be the samples ever so clean.

7. These facts and arguments have been brought to the notice of the Calcutta Chamber of Commerce, who, while not denying their force, express regret that they are unable in the present state of the trade to alter the existing practice in this respect. As long as that practice continues, it would appear to me to be futile for Government officers to talk to cultivators of the advantages of producing entirely clean grain. On the contrary, if Government officials interfere at all in the matter, it should be by explaining to the cultivators that it is their interest to mix at least 5 per cent. of foreign matter with clean grain before offering it for sale.

8. Turning to the questions of the improvement of the species grown and colour of the grain, it appears that Bengal, like other provinces, grows a variety of wheat grains which cannot be reduced to a uniform or scientific classification. The four principal kinds exported from Calcutta are—

No. 1 club, containing 75 per cent. of white and 25 of red.
,, 2 club, containing 65 per cent. of white and 35 of red.
,, 3 hard red.
,, 4 soft red.

Buxar sends No. 1 club—a very superior, soft, white grain. It is extensively grown in the southern part of that sub-division and in Sasseram, and is equal in quality to the best Delhi or Mozufferpore wheat. Bhagulpore grows hard and soft red, while Bengal principally sends soft red only, a grain of very inferior quality.

A sample of Buxar wheat grown in the sub-division of that name, and picked up in a local bazar, was sent to the Chamber of Commerce, and appraised by the Committee of the Calcutta Wheat and Trade Association. It was declared to be superior in quality to the ordinary No. 1 club of trade, as the sample contained no red grain, while the ordinary No. 1 club contains a mixture of 20 to 25 per cent. of red. It thus appears that there is grown within these provinces a species of wheat equal or superior to that of any other part of India, and therefore that there is no need to travel outside for the purpose of procuring superior seed. In ignorance of this fact attempts have from time to time been made to introduce seed-grain from Cawnpore, Delhi, and Mozufferpagur, even the Chamber of Commerce being itself, I believe, unaware that Buxar No. 1 club is largely produced in the Buxar and Sasseram sub divisions and in other parts of Behar. There is reason to believe that the cultivation of this species might be profitably extended in the south Gangetic districts of Behar, should the Chamber of Commerce see its way to effecting an alteration in the present system of refraction, thus causing superior white grain free from dirt to command an adequate price. Samples of the red wheat produced in Bhagulpore were also appraised by the Committee of the Calcutta Wheat and Trade Association, to whom my thanks are due for the assistance they have given in the matter, and it was found that this grain was four annas per maund inferior in value to the Buxar grain. Since the imposition of a duty on wheat in France, the demand for this species has very much fallen off. Attempts have accordingly been made by Mr. Hossein, the Agricultural Officer at Bhagulpore, to introduce Buxar wheat in that division with very satisfactory results. Though the quality of Cawnpore wheat which was supplied by the Chamber of Commerce for experimental cultivation in Bhagulpore slightly deteriorated, yet it was found that Buxar seed, which was also tried in the same district, yielded a grain declared by the Committee to be "a splendid description of wheat, soft, mellow, bold, regular and of good colour." Its value is two annas per maund over that of ordinary Buxar quality, which itself is four annas per maund superior in value to the grain now grown in Bhagulpore Mr. Hossein has been instructed to endeavour to extend the cultivation of this grain in Bhagulpore. The soil and climate of the Shahabad, Patna, Bhagulpore and Monghyr districts seem to be well suited to the growth of wheat, while those districts, as will be seen from the annexed statements, enjoy considerable advantages in point of cost of carriage of the grain to Calcutta, amounting to four to five annas per maund, over cultivators of the districts of the North-Western Provinces.

9. The soil best adapted to the growth of the superior kinds of wheat is described by Mr Jenkins, the Subdivisional Officer of Buxar, to be "karail," a black heavy loam

In Bijhowra village, he remarks, where the best white wheat is grown, the soil is a mixture of karail and banga in proportion of $\frac{3}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$: the land is first ploughed in Assar (second half of June and first half of July), and is reploughed eight times before Asin (second half of September and first half of October), when it is harrowed and the seed is then sown. In fields where two or more different kinds of seed are to be sown, all the seeds are mixed and sown at the same time."

Mr. Peppe of the Opium Department, who has made the wheat trade a subject of special enquiry, makes the following observations on this point:—

"There are two principal tracts in which wheat is largely grown in this district: the first is the alluvial soil, called the deara, extending from Buxar to the Sone, and reaching a maximum breadth of 10 to 15 miles with a length of say 40 miles, thus including less than 400 square miles. This is the tract in which the beautiful soft white wheat is grown; the land is a rich alluvium, annually enriched by the overflow of the Ganges. It is needless to say that no manure is required in this soil for the finest wheats, and that it is in this tract possible to grow as fine wheat as anywhere in India: unfortunately it is in this very tract that the cultivators sow three or four and even more crops in the same field, and this is a fertile source of dirty grain, as when reaped separately they are very often pulled out by the roots (not cut, and this carries an unusual amount of dirt with the grain on to the threshing-floor, but it can be easily separated if the raiyat chooses to take the trouble. From what I can gather, about 40 per cent. of the best wheat comes from this tract. The next in importance is the black clay soil, extending from the eastern part of the Sasseram subdivision well into the Bhabooah subdivision, and extending from the Grand Trunk Road on the one side, and on the other to within 15 miles of the Ganges, say 25 miles by 20 miles = 500 square miles.

"In this tract some of the finest wheat is grown—about 50 per cent. of the whole outturn of the district: the cultivators attempt to keep their seed pure white, but there is a tendency to revert to the red variety: the cultivators tell me that there is no market for red wheat, and that they endeavour to produce a pure white soft wheat without admixture of any kind, and sow it entirely by itself Only a little linseed is sown round the margin of the field, and the whole rubbee cultivation in some villages in this tract is confined to wheat and linseed, with small patches of barley and other crops for home consumption The wheat from this tract, although very good is not equal to the wheat grown on the alluvium lands, and sells for one to two seers less in the rupee. The third principal cultivation of wheat is the koeries and others, amounting to about 5 per cent., who sow on dih* lands, all over the district, one bigha or so at a time on rich dih land well manured and irrigated. This is probably as fine grain as could be produced in this district, and the only improvement that could be effected would be by sowing a better class of seed, which the koeries and others would be very glad to do; as it is, they carefully select their seed and endeavour to get rid of all bad grains before sowing. There is a fourth source of wheat, viz, the small patches of wheat sown in good soil at the foot of the hills, or in the valleys or local alluvium along the banks of the smaller streams; this does not amount to more than 5 per cent. of the wheat grown in the district, and is very variable in quality, a large proportion being red wheat in the south of the district. With regard to the question of increasing the cultivation, the whole of the deara lands could be sown year after year with wheat without any loss in quality, for the land is annually renewed by a rich deposit, and therefore the produce of this tract could be enormously increased, and no doubt the time will come when the value of a well-bred wheat crop, free from earthy particles or any other kind of grain, will be as well known to the wealthy cultivator of the deara as to the British farmer."

* Lands adjoining the village site.

Mr. Allen correctly remarks that the conditions of soil and climate most favourable for the production of the best wheat cannot be determined off-hand. Experiments are being made under the supervision of agricultural officers at Dumraon and Arrah in Shahabad, Sripore in Sarun, in wards' estates in Patna, in Bhagulpore, Monghyr, and elsewhere, in order to determine what species is best suited to the soil of these districts, what is the best method of cultivation, and by the application of what manures the largest outturn may be secured with the greatest economy. It will take some years before any of these questions can be positively answered. So far as our present knowledge extends, the soil and climate of Shahabad appears to be most favourable to the growth of the best grain, while Bhagulpore has the largest area under cultivation, but its grain is inferior in quality. Whether this inferiority is due to climatic and soil conditions, it is not possible with our present limited knowledge to say for certain. Further experiment and observation will be made on this point. While the facts that red grain is so extensively grown, and that the white soft grain of Cawnpore has slightly deteriorated in Bhagulpore, even in one year, appear a priori to indicate that the preference shown for red wheat by the cultivators of that division is not due to accident or ignorance; yet on the other hand the success which has attended the experimental cultivation of Buxar seed in Bhagulpore, and the results of the experiments made in the Patna Division, described below, afford good grounds for the hope that much may be done in both the Patna and Bhagulpore Divisions towards increasing the yield, and in the former division especially towards improving the quality of the grain.

10 The results of experiments made by Mr. Allen on the experimental farm on the estate of the Maharajah of Dumraon in the Patna Division are described by that officer thus:—

"The grain from each of the fourteen plots was weighed in my presence, so the results given below may be considered as absolutely correct.

"The first table shows the numbers and treatment of each plot.

Number.	Kind of wheat.	Treatment.	Remarks.
5A	Local	Deep-ploughed	With this wheat was sown a small amount of gram.
5B	Do.	Shallow-ploughed
10A	Dumraon prize ...	Irrigated it from well	The well was old and the water probably rich in nitrates.
10B	Ditto	Ditto from canal	Worst soil on the farm.
11A	Mozaffernagur ...	Green soiled with hemp	These two plots were half a bigha each.
11B	Ditto	Unmanured
12A	Ditto	Manured with ashes.
12B	Ditto	Ditto ashes and saltpetre.
12C	Local	Ditto cowdung	Good white wheat.
12D	Do.	Unmanured	Ditto.
12E	Buxar	Manured with saltpetre.
12F	Do.	Unmanured.
13A	Mozaffernagur	Ditto.
13B	Local	Ditto	Good red wheat.

"The plots were arranged so as to make the comparison as fair as possible Careful accounts were kept of the expenditure on each plot. Each plot (except 11A and 11B) measured exactly 1,600 square yards, or a standard bigha.

"The following table gives the results of each plot:—

1 Number of plot.	2 Grain per acre.			3 Straw per acre.

11B	15	22	0	22	2	0
12A	20	4	0	22	8	0

"The outturn in straw can only be taken as approximately correct owing to the native method of winnowing; but every care was taken to have the weight of straw ascertained with as much accuracy as possible.

"The following points are noteworthy :—

"Plots 5A and 5B show the advantage of deep ploughing, which, it may be remembered, did not appear from the Arrah experiments. Besides the wheat, the former plot gave 39 and the latter 25 maunds of gram.

"Plots 10A and 10B apparently show that well-water is far superior to canal; but the result of this experiment is misleading. In the first place, the well-water was unusually good, as it was full of organic matter, e.g., old leaves, &c, and then the soil on 10B plot is about the worst on the farm. It would be fairer to compare 10A with 12D, the plot sown with good white local wheat, which was also canal irrigated. Here the advantage due to the well is reduced to 15 seers of grain per acre, while the outturn of straw is practically the same in both cases. The outturn from 11A is remarkably good, nearly equalling that from 12E, the best plot on the farm. The hemp was well ploughed in, and must have decomposed thoroughly in order to give so large a yield. It may be remembered that the plot at Arrah, which was green soiled, was also nearly equal to the saltpetre plot. The advantage of green soiling in this case amounts to nearly 12 maunds of grain and over 14 maunds of straw to the acre, which of course more than covers in the first year the cost of the treatment, whose benefits will continue for at least three or four more croppings.

"Of the remaining plots, the following points may be noted :—There are four unmanured plots, viz. 12D, 12F, 13A and 13B. These four plots were sown respectively with local white Buxar, Mozaffernagur, and local red wheat. Taking grain alone, the crops come in the following order :—(1) Mozaffernagur, (2) Buxar, (3) white, (4) red; but if we consider the straw only, the order is (1) red, (2) Buxar, (3) white, and (4) Mozaffernagur. The average outturn in grain from the unmanured plots may be taken as approximately equal to about 14 maunds to the acre. At Arrah the average was about 10½ maunds, but the land here is in a good season more suited for wheat than the lighter soil of the Arrah plots. Taking 14 maunds as the average, and disregarding for the present the difference due to the kind of grain used, we may note that the advantage per acre due to the use of ashes alone comes to 6 maunds, to the use of ashes and saltpetre 9 maunds, to cowdung only 4 maunds, and to saltpetre alone over 13 maunds. In fact the outturn here is nearly doubled. I consider the yield from ashes and saltpetre on 12B which should have given the best result, as abnormally low. On the other hand, the outturn from 12E is simply astounding; 27¼ maunds of grain, which I found equal to 34½ bushels to the acre, would be considered a very good crop on good soil in a good year in England, but here in India it is, I believe, unprecedented. The outturn of straw over 60 maunds to the acre, or say 2¼ tons, is also very high, for it more than doubles the weight of grain, which is not usual with a good crop. As I saw and examined the grain weighed, there can be no doubt of the accuracy of the figures given above.

"I also took the weight of the different kinds of grains per bushel, which reached in some cases over 66lb. In appearance the Mozaffernagur grain looked best, and I have carefully set apart the grain from the beardless ears in the hope of growing in time a beardless variety of wheat."

Mr. Hossein also made similar experiments with saltpetre as a manure in Bhagulpore, the results of which were not so satisfactory They, however, also show that saltpetre, applied at the rate of one and a half to two maunds per acre, will give an increase of yield which more than pays the cost of the manure. Applied in excess of that quantity, saltpetre as a manure did not pay.

Mr. Allen applied crude saltpetre at the rate of 1½ maunds per acre, mixed with an equal weight of dry earth. The price of the crude saltpetre in Patna bazar was Rs. 3 per maund, or Rs. 4-8 per acre. The increased yield, due to the application of the manure, is 13 maunds, valued at Rs. 30, thus showing a profit of Rs 25·8 per acre. One year's experiments, it is true, prove nothing; but the results, so far as they go, are very encouraging, the outturn of Buxar wheat on a plot manured with crude saltpetre being, it will be observed, 34½ bushels per acre, which would be considered a very good crop on good soil in England. It may be here remarked that saltpetre is a forcing manure, and the continued application of it may lead to exhaustion of the soil; but, as Mr. Allen thinks, the exhausting effect will not be apparent for many years, and may be counteracted by green soiling once in five years. He accordingly advises the application of saltpetre as a top-dressing when the crop is a few inches high, followed by irrigation. Next to saltpetre, the best results were obtained from green soiling with hemp.

11. As to the effect of different soils in changing the colour of the grain, there appears to be no doubt that wheat brought from a distance will, under the influence of soil and climate, gradually change its character. The Committee of the Wheat and Trade Association report that the white Cawnpore wheat supplied to the Committee and introduced by Mr. Hossein into the Bhagulpore Division deteriorated in colour, and this result is in accordance with the general opinion of the cultivators in the wheat-producing tracts. In connection with this point the Subdivisional Officer of Barh reported in 1884 that the cultivators of that subdivision understood the superior value of white soft wheat, but it will only grow on certain soils, and if sown on the soil known as teliya kewal will, they alleged, turn to red. Dr. King, Superintendent of the Botanical Gardens, explained the fact, supposing the cultivators opinion to be well-founded, by the theory that teliya kewal is more suitable for red than for white wheat, that the few seeds of the red sort that were mixed with the seed-grain or remained in the field probably throve better than the white, and thus produced a larger proportion of seed. This process probably went on for a few years, when the major part of the crop became red, and the belief thus arose that the soil caused the white wheat to change to red. Mr. Macpherson, in reporting on the point, after enquiry in Nasrigung, expresses the opinion that the degeneration of white wheat into red on certain soils is so universal that Dr. King's explanation will not suffice. Whatever the explanation may be, there can be no doubt of the fact that the white doodhya wheat, which grows well on balsundar, degenerates when grown continuously in kewal (stiff clay) soil. Experiment will be made in order to ascertain under what conditions the degeneration occurs, and how far it can be obviated by importation from time to time of fresh seed.

12. With reference to Messrs. Reinhold Brothers' scheme for the provision by Government of facilities for storing wheat near railway stations, where the grain might be cleaned and graded on the American system, there is unanimity of opinion adverse to the proposal. I agree in the view that it is impracticable and inexpedient to establish grading warehouses in the manner suggested, and concur with the Director of the Agricultural Department of the North-Western Provinces in thinking that, if any such action as is suggested by Messrs. Reinhold Brothers is to be taken, it is precisely the kind of thing which ought to be done by private agency, and in which Government should not interfere unless the Chamber of Commerce find they are unable to insist on proper arrangements. In the present instance the Chamber are opposed to such interference, and no complaints are anywhere made of the insufficiency of the present storage accommodation at railway stations. The East Indian Railway authorities, it may be added, have recently reduced the freight rates from Patna, which now amounts to one-sixth of a pie per maund per mile. It will be seen, however, from the annexed list, that while the freights from Patna have been reduced by more than twenty per cent. within the present year, no corresponding reduction has been made in freights from Dumraon and Buxar, from which stations local wheat should be largely exported.

13. On the question of forecasts, and the area sown, all the information which is available was given in my letter, dated 2nd September, addressed to Agricultural Officers at Patna and Bhagulpore. These officers were requested to make an effort to supplement that information by enquiry conducted through Sub-Deputy Collectors, canoongoes and patwaries, on a system described in the following extract:—

"A statement is annexed to this letter showing the quantities of wheat carried by rail and boat from the principal stations and river marts in Behar and Bengal for the years 1877 to 1885.

"The figures for the rail-borne trade are taken from the railway returns, and may be accepted as correct; but it is scarcely necessary to observe that they cannot be accepted as showing either the total quantities of wheat produced in the districts named, or the surplus produced in these districts over the requirements of total consumption. The quantities sent, for instance, by rail from Patna in 1883-84 was nearly thirteen lakhs of maunds, of which great part doubtless came by boat from Oudh, and part was locally produced; but how much came from other provinces, and how much may have been produced in the Patna and Chota Nagpore Divisions it is impossible to say. Mr. Allen, after communicating on the point with the Traffic Manager of the Bengal and North-Western Railway, as well as with the local merchants at Patna, may, it is hoped, be in a position to supply some information on this question. But whatever may be the facts of wheat production, the wheat traffic in Behar and the Lower Provinces of Bengal, as compared with that of other provinces, where more attention has been given to the subject, is, as will be seen from the annexed statement, by no means so insignificant as is ordinarily supposed. While the total imports of wheat to Calcutta in 1881-82 from all parts of India, including Bengal, amounted to only 107,86,269 maunds, the consignments from Behar and the Lower Provinces alone amounted to 56,71,080 maunds, or over 52 per cent. of the entire quantity.

"Another striking feature of these figures is the remarkable decline in the Provincial trade since 1881-82, both absolutely and relatively to the quantity exported from other provinces. It will be observed that, while the total exports from Bengal and Behar stations amounted in 1880-81 to over 51 lakhs of maunds, and in 1881-82 more than 56 lakhs, in 1882-83 they fell to 26 lakhs and in 1883-84 to 38 lakhs. As compared with the consignments from other provinces, the figures stand thus :—

	1877-78.	1878-79.	1879-80.	1880-81.	1881-82.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.
Percentage of Lower Provinces consignments to Calcutta on total.	46	56	54	72	52	36	34	30

"The cause of this decline, both relatively to other provinces and absolutely, should be investigated.

"Coming now to the question of area under cultivation and forecasts, attention is invited to the statistics of cultivation given in the abstract of reports from Commissioners, annexed to the letter from the Financial Department of the Government of Bengal, to the Financial Department of the Government of India, No. 134½, dated 7th August 1883. It would appear from the figures given in that statement that the total area under wheat cultivation in Bengal and Behar is about 800,000 to 1,000,000 acres, or a sixth of the area under wheat in the North-Western Provinces, and half the area under wheat in Oudh. It must, however, be remembered that the figures showing cultivated areas in Bengal and Behar are merely estimates framed by the Collectors on the best data they could obtain, no doubt, but still on very insufficient data. As Collectors in the Lower Provinces have no materials on which to form estimates of this kind, other than guesses made by themselves or their subordinates, it is evident that much confidence cannot be placed in such figured estimates of the area under wheat or any other crop. It is pointed out in the Government letter that much cannot be done in collecting accurate information regarding the area under cultivation, or in forming forecasts of the season's outturn, without a cadastral survey and an organised village agency. There is only one way in which, pending the carrying out of such a survey, it would appear that anything in this direction can be attempted, and that way is, through the agency of existing patwaries, who have been already registered in most of the Behar wheat-producing districts. It may be possible to obtain tolerably correct approximations to the true area under wheat in some selected districts in which patwaries have been registered, by issuing questions on the subject to them, through the Subdivisional Officers, Sub-Deputy Collectors, and canoongoes. This suggestion cannot, however, be acted upon with any hope of successful results, except with the co-operation and support of the district authorities, and it is feared that the district staff is already so overburdened with work that district officers will not view with favour any proposal which will entail additional labour on any of their subordinates. A copy of this letter will, however, be sent to the Commissioner of the division to which you are attached, with whom you are requested to communicate on this point. If the Commissioner is of opinion that an attempt might be made to collect statistics of the area under wheat cultivation through the existing patwaries, and to issue forecasts of the probable outturn in the manner adopted in the North-Western Provinces, then the attempt to collect statistics of the normal area under cultivation may be taken in hand in one or two districts of the Patna, and possibly also of the Bhagulpore Division.

"In that case the plan which would have to be adopted would be something of the following kind :—

"You would first issue, through the Subdivisional Officer, the form annexed, to be filled up by patwaries. The form might be delivered by the police to the village chowkidars, who in turn would make it over to the registered patwari to be filled up by the latter before a specified date. On that date all the patwaries within the thana jurisdiction would assemble at the police station or other convenient centre, where you should yourself meet them with the Sub-Deputy Collector or canoongoe of the subdivision. You should then collect the forms, scrutinise them, demand explanations of manifest errors, correct mistakes arising from misconceptions of what is required, and then proceed to tabulate the results. There is little room for doubt that the patwaries can give the information asked for in this form with tolerable accuracy, notwithstanding their own protestations, or the assertions made with great positiveness to the contrary by persons who have ordinarily had very little practical experience of these matters. I have myself never yet met a patwari who could not give the area of up-lands (bhit) and of low-lands (dhanhar) in his village. His rent-roll being founded on the classification of village lands into up-lands and low-lands, to assert that he does not know the area of low-land and of up-land, respectively, is ordinarily to assert that he has no rent-roll, and that there is no basis whatever on which the amounts of rents are determined and collected in his village. What the patwari's papers will not show is the portion of the up-land which is ordinarily under any particular crop. But admitting this difficulty to exist, yet the patwari can estimate with close approximation to truth the area under any particular crop in his village. His estimate, it is true, is only a guess; but then it is the guess of a man dealing with a very limited area, in which he may have spent his life, on a subject with which he is intimately acquainted; and so far it would appear to be more likely to be correct than the guess of a Government official dealing with a large and indefinite area, of which he may not have had much personal knowledge, on a subject to which he may have given no particular attention, and as to which the more he gives it special attention, the more he probably finds that his guesses are, and must from the nature of the case be, exceedingly wide of the mark. That the patwaries can give the areas under each crop with tolerable accuracy I have no doubt: that they will do so, or that the objects of such inquiries will not be misunderstood or misrepresented, is another question.

14. It was found, however, impossible to collect statistics in the Bhagulpore Division in the manner suggested, because patwaries have not there been registered; and although it would be possible to get tolerably accurate statistics in the Patna Division, where the registration of patwaries has been more or less completed, yet it was found necessary, for the present, to abandon the attempt to do so, because the services of canoongoes and Sub-Deputy Collectors could not be spared for the purpose, and the Commissioner thought that the employment of these officers on this work would lead to complications with district officers. It was at the same time obviously impossible for Mr. Allen to collect such statistics himself, and, if it were possible, his employment on work of this kind would involve waste of power for which statistics, such as he could collect, would not yield adequate compensation. I regret that I am not therefore at present able to give more accurate figures of the area under cultivation than have already been furnished by Collectors. These figures, as frequently remarked, are mere guesses, and are of little value. The failure of the attempt to collect accurate statistics of the comparatively small area cultivated under wheat in Bengal, in the way suggested, affords another illustration of the difficulties attendant on all efforts in this direction in these provinces, unless and until an agency is created for the purpose, or the existing agency is put on a very different footing from that on which it now rests. The area under cultivation in each district, as estimated by Collectors, with abstracts of the imports and export to and from Calcutta, as ascertained from the Custom House and railway returns, are given in an appendix. Speaking broadly, it may be said that the cultivation of wheat on a considerable scale is confined to the Shahabad district of the Patna Division, to the Monghyr and Bhagulpore and parts of the Purneah and Maldah districts of the Bhagulpore Division, and to the Nuddea and Moorshedabad districts of the Presidency Division.

15. Adverting to the subject of forecasts, it will be gathered from the preceding remarks that, as in the case of jute, so in the case of wheat also, it is not possible at present to give trustworthy statistics of the area under cultivation. Still less is it possible to give trustworthy forecasts of the area cultivated from year to year. But as pointed out in my letter. No. 321, dated 20th March 1886, on the subject of jute forecasts, it is possible to give forecasts founded on information collected from selected zemindars, European planters, managers of wards' and Government estates and others, showing whether more or less than the normal area, whatever that area may be, is under cultivation each year, and whether the prospects of the crop at the various stages of its growth are better or worse than usual. I propose to have forecasts of the wheat crop prepared on this system, for the crop to be sown next cold weather, if the Agricultural Department is permitted to continue in existence till that time.

16. I have communicated with the Punjab Commissioner of Settlements and Agriculture on the question of the publication of a broad sheet, and the dissemination of information on the best method of cultivation in the manner proposed in that province. It has been ascertained, however, that the proposed broad sheets have not yet been prepared, but when they are ready the Commissioner has promised to favour me with copies which can be distributed, if found suited to the conditions of cultivation in these provinces.

Meanwhile, I do not think, with the meagre knowledge and limited experience of these things acquired in Bengal, that we should be warranted in dogmatically laying down any instructions for cultivators When, after careful experiment and extended observation, more knowledge and experience have been acquired on the subject, we may be able to do so. All that can be safely done in the interim is to circulate in the mofussil the Calcutta trade price-lists, showing the prices of the different species of wheat, and therefore their relative market values; to exhibit also samples of the different grains, with their prices annexed, in economic museums, at the offices of managers of ward's and Government estates, and in other places where the cultivators might have access to them, so that cultivators may see for themselves the kinds which fetch the highest prices; and finally to distribute selected seed and encourage the cultivation of the better kinds of grain in Government and wards' estates to begin with, and afterwards in other estates also. All this and more in the same direction might be done by the Agricultural department if established on a permanent basis; but hampered as this department now is by the provisional nature of the sanction on which it rests, the tenuity of the funds and the paucity of the agency at its disposal, it is difficult to take any action in this or other matters involving arrangements of a permanent nature. Therefore it is that we have been obliged during the past year to confine ourselves almost entirely to enquiry and experiment.

17. Prizes were also given to cultivators who exhibited the best specimens of grain at the Agricultural Exhibition held at Dumraon in 1885. Mr. Peppe's report attests the eagerness with which the ryots present at that exhibition asked for samples of the best varieties, and I can myself also vouch for the spirit of rivalry aroused among them; for on the recurrence of the similar exhibition in the same neighbourhood in February last, some cultivators who had obtained prizes at the previous exhibition, but failed to do so at the latter, protested against the awards of the judges and complained that the grain exhibited by them was as good as that for which they had received prizes the previous year. If these exhibitions and prizes are continued, and the cultivation of the better kinds of grain is thus fostered in Shahabad, the district which in this and other respects has taken the lead of all others in attempts at agricultural improvement, it may be possible to get cultivators on the Government estates there to grow pedigree wheat for seed alone.

The Report for the year 1884-85 and the Resolution recorded upon it.

Owing to the continued depression in trade, the year under report was a very unfavourable one for the Port of Chittagong. Nevertheless the results of the year are satisfactory, and prove that the port can hold its own even under adverse circumstances.

2. The following is a statement of the number and tonnage of vessels which visited the port during the year, compared with the corresponding figures of the previous year:—

Description of Vessels.	1884-85.		1885-86.		Increase.		Decrease.

There was a considerable decrease in the number of vessels trading with the United Kingdom, and those employed in the Naraingunge trade; the causes of the decrease being a decline in the importation of salt from, and the exportation of jute to, the United Kingdom during the year. On the other hand, owing to a sudden rise in the exportation of rice, there was an increase in the number of other vessels visiting the port. Taking the year's statistics as a whole, there was a net increase of 13 vessels and a net decrease of 2,848 tons in the total tonnage, compared with the figures of the previous year.

3. The following abstract shows the quantity and value of the principal articles imported and exported during the past two years:—

	1884-85.		1885-86.
	Quantity.	Value.	Quantity.	Value.
Exports.	Tons.	Rs.	Tons.	Rs.

Salt	22,527 Gallons	3,62,802	9,878 Gallons.	1,57,342
Oil	903,358	4,01,312	289,253	1,38,867

Owing to the fall in the value of jute, a smaller quantity of it was exported than in the previous year. The shipments would have been fewer still were it not for the fact that, according to the prevailing practice which had been born of necessity, the vessels in which the jute was exported were specially chartered for Chittagong, and engagements had been entered into with them some time beforehand. This is a drawback which must necessarily detract from the popularity of the port; but there is every hope of its disappearing as the port increases, and the advantages of its situation for the jute trade becomes more widely known. The Lieutenant-Governor learns with satisfaction that there is already an indication of this in the fact that during the past year several high class vessels put in at Chittagong for charter. The rise in the exportation of rice during the year was due to an unusually large demand for this commodity from the West Indies, Mauritius, Ceylon, Madras, and Cochin. Salt and oil were not largely imported, as the supply already in hand, owing to excessive importation in the previous year, was more than the demand.

4. The total income of the port during the year amounted to Rs. 66,165-12-11 against Rs. 75,337-15-6, the total receipts of the previous year. The decrease was chiefly under "Pilotage collections," the decline in which was due to the stoppage of the levy of special pilotage. From the beginning of the current year the pilotage receipts and disbursements will be separated from the Port Fund accounts, and will form a distinct account. The question of making pilotage compulsory at Chittagong is still unsettled, and one of the grounds which have been urged in favour of the measure is that the receipts of the Pilotage Fund should be so far secured as to cover all possible charges against it. A sum of Rs. 1,226 was realized during the year on account of the water-supply. The scheme, the total cost of which has been put down as Rs. 12,806-14-9, has been in operation since January last, and in the three months of the past year, during which it was worked, the receipts amounted to nearly 10 per cent. of the total outlay.

5. The total expenditure of the port during the year amounted to Rs. 47,893-10-4 against Rs. 51,714-9-5, the total expenditure of the previous year, showing a decrease of Rs. 3,820-15-1, which was chiefly due to less work having been done for the port by the Dockyard during the year, to the absence of Military Department charges, and to the fact that no percentage was drawn by special pilots as in previous years.

6. Two new vessels, with a gross tonnage of 400 tons, were built during the year against six vessels, with a tonnage of 1,022 tons in the previous year. It is believed that the fall in the freight for the carriage of jute from Narainganje was the cause of fewer vessels being built. The jetty and moorings in the port were kept in good order, and the buoyage arrangements are satisfactorily reported on. The whistling buoy on the South Patch, which broke adrift in July last, was not recovered, and orders were given to replace it. The port boats were all well looked after.

7. The lights at Norman's Point and Kutubdea were repaired by the Public Works Department during the year. The defective character of these lights has more than once been commented upon, but the question of renewing them, and of supplying generally the wants of the port, which are referred to in paragraph 52 of the report, must be deferred till the larger question of the formation of the Port Trust at Chittagong is finally decided. A Bill in connection with this measure is likely to be introduced at the next session of the Legislative Council.

8. Two accidents occurred to vessels in the port during the year against eight in the previous year; neither of these were of a serious nature. In one case the pilot was found to be in fault and reprimanded. Two vessels were lost outside the port.

9. The health of the port was very much better than it was in 1884-85. There was only one death from cholera, and the admissions to hospital were fewer. On the whole, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice the progress made in the development of the port.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

R. H. WILSON,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

MUHAMMADAN ENDOWMENT FUNDS.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

No. 527, dated Calcutta, the 13th August 1886.

From—G. K. LYON, Esq., Offg. Under-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal,
To—The Secretary to the Muhammadan Educational Endowments Committee.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 81, dated the 30th ultimo, submitting the preliminary report of the Muhammadan Educational Endowments Committee, and in reply to state that the Lieutenant-Governor approves of the proposal to extend to the end of the present financial year the period for which the Committee has been appointed. As at present constituted, the Committee does not occasion any expense to Government.

No. 81, dated Calcutta, the 30th July 1886.

From—P. NOLAN, Esq., Secretary to the Muhammadan Educational Endowments Committee,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

I AM directed by the Muhammadan Educational Endowments Committee to submit a preliminary report showing the progress which they have been able to make up to the present time in the enquiry upon which they are engaged.

2. The Committee was appointed under instructions contained in the following extract from a Resolution published by the Government of India, in the Home Department, dated the 15th July 1885 :—

While it is clear, therefore, that undue importance has been attached by the memorialists to this matter, His Excellency the Governor-General in Council is disposed to think that it would be satisfactory to the leaders of the Muhammadan community that the question of the management and appropriation of Muhammadan educational endowments should be more fully examined. It may be possible by some unobjectionable amendment of the law to secure more effectually than is the case at present the object which the memorialists have in view. His Excellency in Council would be glad, therefore, if the Local Governments of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and the Punjab were each to appoint a small Committee to consider and report upon this subject. Each Committee might consist of an experienced Revenue officer, one or two influential Muhammadan gentlemen, one at least being a learned Muhammadan lawyer, and one or more of the legal advisers of the Government. In the Presidency towns it would be very desirable that the Advocate-General should be invited to serve upon the Committee. The different local Committees might advantageously be placed in direct communication with one another, and their reports, when ready, should be submitted through the Local Government, with the opinion of that Government, for the consideration of the Government of India. It is believed that in temporarily-settled provinces full information is already on record as to the number, value, and present appropriation of most of these endovments. In such cases the Committees would probably only have to consider, on such information as may be readily available, whether there is any ground for believing that endowments intended for educational purposes are in fact now diverted to alien uses, and whether, in that case, any amendment of the law is possible which, without violating the principle that Government cannot connect itself with the management of religious endowments, might lead to the recovery of such funds. In Bengal, and perhaps elsewhere, the enquiry would probably have to take a wider range, and the Committees would require the assistance of Government and the district officers in the collection of information as to the present number and position of the local endowments. The Governor-General in Council will, however, leave it to the Local Government in each province to lay down the general scope of the enquiry in accordance with local circumstances.

The Government of Bengal, in constituting the Committee by a Resolution dated the 8th December 1885, issued the additional instructions noted below :—

Sir Rivers Thompson gladly welcomes the proposal which the Government of India, in deference to the wishes of the National Muhammadan Association now makes in the 19th paragraph of the Resolution cited in the preamble, to appoint a Committee to ascertain the extent to which educational endowments have been founded by charitable and public-spirited Muhammadans throughout these Provinces. It is a fact that the progress of education among the Hindu community of Bengal is largely indebted to private liberality ; and although among Muhammadans there are fewer wealthy persons than among Hindus, it is probable that the number of those who have devoted money to public purposes, according to their means, are not, comparatively speaking, fewer in one community than in the other. Educational endowments, when of small value, are apt to be overlooked ; and when they consist of immoveable property, they are apt to be diverted from the donor's intention. Much good may therefore result from a Committee appointed to enquire in the first place into the number of such educational endowments, their character, and the manner in which the proceeds are applied. It may be possible that, when information on these points is collected, administrative arrangements or legislative action may be devised, whereby, in accordance with the wishes of the representatives of the Muhammadan community, the funds of these endowments may be applied more carefully than at present, and more in accordance with the wishes and intentions of the donors.

When the facts regarding the extent and character of the endowments in question have been ascertained, the duty of the Committee will then be to consider how far they point to the necessity for action, executive or legislative, to provide that the endowment funds may be most usefully employed.

It is the desire of the Government of India that Committees appointed by Local Governments should communicate with each other in order thereby to assure, as far a practicable, uniformity of action of design. It is desirable, therefore, that the Committe nominated above should place itself in communication with Committees formed in other Provinces.

3. It was the first duty of the Committee to collect all available information as to existing endowments for the promotion of Muhammadan education. With this object they have examined the records of the Bengal Office, the Board of Revenue, and the office of the Director of Public Instruction, and caused enquiries to be made through Revenue officers and local Committees in every district. I visited on behalf of the Committee the chief Muhammadan centres—Bankipore, Moorshedabad, Dacca, Chittagong, and Hooghly—where, in communication with those most interested in the subject, I aided in the formation of District Committees and in directing their investigations. Assistance was also received from the Muhammadan Association, and from individuals anxious to aid in promoting the cause of education. It is not, however, supposed that all endowments have been noticed. The difficulty of making an exhaustive examination of the foundations of a province may be understood from a statement made by Sir Arthur Hobhouse, that the English Commission of Enquiry worked from the year 1818 to the year 1837, and yet their reports were very imperfect, new discoveries being constantly made by the existing Commission of important charities which had previovsly been overlooked.

Koran, Arabic, Persian, and Urdu are being taught.	Nota-sleut-numah received, nor any statement showing the annual income and expenditure of this endowed property. Whatever was known to several of the members of the committee has been entered in the preceding columns.
13	Mooyee Mobarek at Dhamnagore.	Founder and date of foundation not traced out.	Mainly religious and charitable, and partly educational.	,, 1,000	,, 200	Mainly to the private use of the trustees; very little is expended for religious purposes.	Formerly boys were taught in the Koran, which has been discontinued.	At present a monitor is entertained on Rs. 6 a month, and five or six boarders are educated. The endowed property has been partitioned. The several shareholders misappropriate the income to their private use. One of the shareholders, Shah Golam Gous, performs certain prescribed religious ceremonies of the endowment.
14	Kadam Rasool at Remna.	Not traced out ...	Mainly charitable and religious, and partly educational.	Nearly Rs. 900 ...	,, 200	Religious and charitable	Formerly boys were taught in the Koran, which has long since been stopped.	The present trustee is a minor. The whole income is not expended in the way prescribed, the major part being misappropriated by the trustee's guardians and servants.
15	Kadam Rasool, situated in the town of Balasore.	Ditto. Tradition only points out Nawab Taki Khan as founder.	Ditto ditto ...	Rs. 977 as given by the present trustees, but the Committee estimate it to be Rs. 1,000.	,, 300	Wholly misappropriated ...	Formerly boys were being taught in the Koran. The practice has been totally abandoned.	Although the estimated income of the endowment is Rs. 1,000, the present expenditure does not seem to exceed Rs. 150 or so, the difference being misappropriated by the trustee, Khudra Bibi, and by her agents. The institution is in a most dilapidated state. No shelter can now be obtained by travellers and fakeers, who formerly used to resort there in numbers.

The allegations embodied in the above statement are still under enquiry In requiring information as to endowments, the Committee requested that the touleutnamahs, or foundation deeds, might be supplied, and where no written evidence was obtainable, that competent witnesses might be examined and their statements forwarded. This course was not pursued in the districts of Patna, Balasore, and Midnapore, so that the allegations as to the existence of educational endowments now diverted to private uses must be accepted only as the expression of opinions, the value of which will have to be tested by actual examination. In each of these districts the Committee requested that detailed enquiries should be made through the local Sub-Committees, and the result of these investigations is still awaited.

7. From the Noakholly district it is reported that there are many endowments of a mixed character, educational and religious, but that no details with regard to them have been ascertained. The Collector has been requested to supply evidence in a few typical instances that such endowments exist. It is not clear how it can be known that alleged endowments are of an educational character if no details as to them have been ascertained. The object of a mixed endowment is generally the last particular with regard to it which can be established satisfactorily.

8. In conformity with the instructions given, it has been ascertained that a Committee similar to that constituted in Bengal has been appointed under the Resolution of the Government of India in the Madras Presidency only, and the work of this Committee has not as yet reached a stage at which it can be referred to with advantage for guidance or assistance.

9. The Bengal Committee was originally appointed for a period of six months, which has now expired. I am to request that the term may be extended to the end of the present financial year, as it has not been found possible either to complete the enquiries necessary in Bengal, or to ascertain the views of the Committee formed in Madras within the period originally assigned. The Committee, as now constituted, does not occasion any expenditure.

10. It would be premature for this Committee to submit proposals before the investigation has been completed, and the opinion of the Madras Committee has been ascertained; but it may be useful to notice here the points which are under consideration. The Mohsin endowment, with a net income of Rs. 56,565 available for education, is administered entirely by Government, grants being made from its revenue from time to time at discretion for the promotion of Muhammadan education in various ways. As far as the Committee are informed, the administration of this fund has been judicious, and it has certainly done much good; but it seems worthy of consideration whether the Muhammadans themselves should not in future exercise some control over the expenditure. To this course, however, two members of the Committee, Nawab Abdul Lutif and Hon'ble Abdul Jubber, are opposed, considering that it would be unwise to disturb a form of management which at present produces such excellent results. The majority of the other funds specified in this report are also under the control of Government or of the Board of Revenue, and although some of them are small, and devoted to purposes clearly specified in the foundation, others are considerable in amount, and administered at discretion. The Committee consider that the control of these funds might with advantage be vested in a Committee, of which the Director of Public Instruction should be President, and Muhammadan gentlemen, appointed by Government, and serving without remuneration, might be the members. It is not proposed to deprive local authorities of any power which they at present possess, but merely to transfer the functions of check and supervision now exercised at head-quarters to a body which may be thought more suitable for the purpose than that named in Regulation XIX of 1810, that is to say the Board of Revenue.

11. With regard to educational endowments diverted to private uses, section 539, Civil Procedure Code, gives ample power to Civil Courts to remedy all such abuses. The difficulty is to collect evidence of malversation, and to find any private person willing to bear the expense of a suit, the benefit of which must be shared by the Muhammadan public generally. On the second point a representation was made by the Committee to the effect that it was clearly the intention of the Legislature that Government should bear the cost of conducting such cases, and in reply the Bengal Government undertook to defray the expenses whenever litigation was found to be really necessary to defend educational endowments. This would remove one cause of complaint, for, altnough our enquiries have not shown that evidence has in any case been collected to show that educational endowments have been alienated to improper uses, it is desirable that all should know that, where proof is forthcoming, no financial difficulty will bar the way to redress. Another allegation very frequently made is that, where funds are embezzled, evidence cannot be obtained, as the trustees refuse to produce their title-deeds or accounts. To provide a remedy in such cases, the Committee entrusted with the supervision of expenditure from Muhammadan funds might be also empowered to call for the title-deeds of any lands credibly alleged to be held in trust for educational purposes, to summon and examine witnesses, and to delegate these powers to any local Committee of whom one should be the Collector of the district in which the lands were situated.

FOUNDATION OF ADDITIONAL SCHOLARSHIPS FOR MUHAMMADAN STUDENTS.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 17th August 1886.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Letter No. 2446, dated the 7th April 1886, from the Officiating Director of Public Instruction on the subject of the encouragement of Muhammadan education in Bengal.

Re-read—

Paragraphs 563, 564, 571, 573, 574 and 580 of the report of the Education Commission.

Paragraph 28 of letter No. 2285T—G, dated the 25th September 1884, from the Government of Bengal, addressed to the Government of India, Home Department.

Paragraphs 13, 14 and 16 of the resolution of the Government of India, Home Department, No. 7—215—25, dated the 15th July 1885, on the same subject.

In the report of the Education Commission the following observations are made on the subject of Muhammadan education :—

Paragraph 580 of the Education Commission's report.

"Apart from the social and historical conditions of the Muhammadan community in India, there are causes of strictly educational character which heavily weight it in the race of life. The teaching of the mosque must precede the lessons of the school. The one object of a young Hindu is to obtain an education which will fit him for an official or a professional career. But before the young Muhammadan is allowed to turn his thoughts to secular instruction, he must commonly pass some years in going through a course of sacred learning. The Muhammadan boy therefore enters school later than the Hindu. In the second place, he very often leaves school at an earlier age. The Muhammadan parent belonging to the better classes is usually poorer than the Hindu parent in a corresponding social position : he cannot afford to give his son so complete an education. In the third place, irrespectively of his worldly means, the Muhammadan parent often chooses for his son while at school an education which will secure for him an honoured place among the learned of his own community, rather than one which will command a success in the modern professions or in official life. The years which the young Hindu gives to English and mathematics in a public school, the young Muhammadan devotes in a madrassa to Arabic and the law and theology of Islam. When such an education is completed, it is to the vocation of a man of learning, rather than to the more profitable professions, that the thoughts of a promising Muhammadan youth naturally turn. The above are the three principal causes of an educational character which retard the prosperity of the Mussulmans It would be beyond the province of a strictly educational report to attempt generalizations based upon the social or historical conditions which affect the Muhammadan community in India.

The Commissioners proceed to propose that, among other measures to be taken for the special encouragement of education among Muhammadans, scholarships should be established for their benefit, to be awarded on the results of the Matriculation and First Arts Examination, and made tenable at colleges.

3. The Government of India, in a resolution recorded in the Home Department on the 15th July 1885, stated that—

"Very much has been done by the Local Government to meet the requirements of the Muhammadans in Bengal, and it may fairly be said that they have now every opportunity offered them of securing a good education. If it is found that anything further is required in any part of the province, or at any particular stage of the educational course, to advance the progress of the Muhammadan community, the Governor-General in Council feels sure that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will not stint the necessary outlay. For the attraction of Muhammadans to higher education a liberal provision of scholarships is essential, and their wants must not be overlooked in the framing of any general scheme of scholarships for any province in pursuance of the orders of the Government of India on the report of the Education Commission."

4. The Officiating Director of Public Instruction having been consulted as to the means best adapted for giving effect to the policy indicated in the foregoing extracts, has recommended the foundation of scholarships of small amount, but sufficiently numerous to have an appreciable effect, for the assistance of Muhammadan students who have passed the Entrance Examination in prosecuting their studies at the Calcutta University. Accepting this proposal, the Lieutenant-Governor sanctions the foundation from the beginning of the next academical year of twenty scholarships of seven rupees a month each, tenable for two years at any college affiliated to the University, to be awarded to Muhammadan students of these Provinces passing the Entrance Examination, and failing to obtain any more valuable exhibition; and of twenty scholarships, also tenable for two years—ten of rupees ten a month each and ten of rupees seven a month each—to be similarly given on the result of the First Arts Examination to Muhammadans who previously obtained the scholarships founded by this resolution in connection with the Entrance Examination. These scholarships are not to be regarded as permanent foundations, but as an assistance temporarily given to a class which at present requires special assistance. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the advance which has been made in the high education of Muhammadans within the last few years, and the increasing numbers in which they resort to the University. It may be confidently anticipated that with the special aid now offered they will be able before long to meet all other sections of the community on equal terms.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four fee above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Explanation.—Summary.—The mean and means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages of results of the readings during the seven days for the past week. The mean of cloud of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage, saturation being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in the district determined from the returns sent in by the 8th day of each month for the period in question during the past week. The mean of the stations in the district standing in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 13th of August 1886.

CALCUTTA the 17*th August* 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 13TH OF AUGUST 1886.

It was noticed in the report from the previous week that a rather considerable excess pressure had been recorded over the Province, and with the establishment of the higher pressure there was a tendency of the monsoon current to fall off in force and to give less copious rainfall than had hitherto been the case The conditions which had thus developed became more marked at the commencement of the present week, and from the very beginning it was evident that a partial break in the rains was commencing in the western districts of the province. A westerly and south-westerly wind current set in which caused rainfall first to cease in South Behar and parts of North Behar; the break in the rains then apparently extended to Chutia Nagpur and to parts of Orissa, while at the same time the moist wind current which was still blowing over parts of Bengal was forced over East and North Bengal and gave these districts fairly copious rainfall, though even in East Bengal and in parts of North Bengal at the close of the week rainfall became decidedly lighter and less general. The precise date of commencement of any partial break in the rains, like that which now obtains, is always more or less difficult to state; but, roughly, the break in the rains in South Behar has been marked since the 8th, over the northern part of Chutia Nagpur the break commenced about the 9th, while in North Behar and Orissa the break has partaken more of the nature of lighter and very local showers. In South-West Bengal also rainfall became rather scanty and decidedly local from the 11th, while in East Bengal the falling off was noticed on about the 12th. At the close of the week also a further feature was developed in the meteorology of the Bay of Bengal which rather intensified the break in the rains. On Thursday, the 12th instant, pressure became decidedly low off Masulipatam and Coconada, and on the following day a very feeble but distinctly marked cyclonic storm developed off this station and round this there was the usual cyclonic circulation of winds, so that in the place of the westerly current which had previously prevailed, there was a distinct tendency of the winds in Bengal, and particularly at the south-westerly stations, to become easterly. At the same time the existence of this feeble storm almost completely stopped anything like a strong monsoon current from passing beyond the northern half of the Bay, and thus the conditions tended to strengthen the break in the rains which had previously been established.

Pressure was for the previous week over the whole province about 0·07″ above the normal; during the present week this excess has been increased to 0·093″, or to nearly a tenth of an inch. At many stations in fact the excess pressure exceeds a tenth of an inch, and this is the case at False Point, Saugor Island, Calcutta, Durbhunga and Hazaribagh.

Temperature—On the whole has not varied very largely from the normal, for though Orissa, Chutia Nagpur and South Behar show temperatures which are moderately in excess of the normal, East Bengal, North Behar and South-West Bengal show almost corresponding defects. Generally, therefore, the mean temperature of the province for the week has been almost absolutely normal.

Rainfall—From what has been previously stated will be seen to have been below the normal over the whole of the western part of the province, and slightly above it in East and North Bengal. Compared with the normal for the week and expressed as a percentage of the normal, the fall in East Bengal has been 6·41 inches on 5·7 days equal to 166 per cent. In North Bengal the fall has been 4·08 inches on 5·1 days, and the percentage of the normal is 127. In North Behar the fall has been 2·86 inches on 4·4 days, and the percentage becomes 90. In Orissa the fall has been 1·42 inches on 3·1 days or 55 per cent of the normal fall. In South-West Bengal the fall has been 2·32 inches on 3·8 days, and compared with the normal it equals 81 per cent. In Chutia Nagpur the fall has averaged 1·54 inches only, and this fell on 3·6 days; this is equal to 52 per cent. of the normal; while finally in South Behar an average fall of only 0·87 inch is reported on 1·8 days, which represents only 30 per cent. of the usual fall. For the whole week the rainfall over the whole province has only been equal to about 86 per cent. of the normal fall. Some heavy rainfalls are reported from some of the stations in East and North Bengal in the earlier part of the week, and thus on the 10th Buxar received 8·06 inches, and on the 7th Siliguri reported 7·25 inches, Kishoregunge 6·09 inches, Kasba 6·0 inches and Ramchandrapur 5·30 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 13th of August 1886 :—

MEMORANDUM.

THE mortuary statistics of the districts in Bengal for the month of June 1886 disclose—

1. That 88,329 deaths were registered, or at the rate of 15·96 per 1,000 of the population amounting to 66,163,884, against 18·24 per 1,000 in the preceding month, and 18·00 per 1,000 in the corresponding month of 1885, indicating, as compared with both the periods, a considerable reduction in the number of deaths recorded.

2. That the highest casualty-rates were returned from the undermentioned districts :—

Rungpore	23·40	Pubna	21·24
Monghyr	22·68

3. That referring to the incidence of the specific death-causes mentioned in the table given below, it is seen that cholera prevailed with considerably less fatality during the month under notice as compared with the result of corresponding month of the preceding year, and that the death-rates from the rest of the diseases, excepting that from injury which remained unaltered, exhibited only fractional variations :—

4. That while small-pox, injury, and the diseases coming under the head of "Other causes," did not prevail with more than normal severity anywhere, and bowel-complaints, which proved noticeably fatal only in Darjiling, viz. at the rate of 8 88 per 1,000 of population, cholera and fever caused the greatest loss of life in the following districts :—

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorised form of age classification.
